Bihar and Orissa (11 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India)—The area planted is estimated at 271,000 acres, which is 3 per cent above the area reported at this date last year. The weather conditions have been favourable, except in Cuttack where excessive rain and floods in June affected the crop to some extent. The condition of the crop is reported to be generally good. The average outturn for the province, as a whole, is estimated at 99 per cent of the normal.

Bengal (9.2 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India)—The area planted is reported to be 219,000 acres, which is 5 per cent above the area reported at this time last year. The season, which was favourable at the time of planting and during the early days of the crop, finally turned out too wet. Growth has been generally retarded and a good deal of damage done by floods. Prospects have accordingly been seriously affected. The average outturn for the province is estimated at 81 per cent of the normal, as against 88 per cent last year.

Madras (3.8 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India)—The area is estimated at 113,000 acres, which is 3 per cent above the area reported at this time last year. The main increase is in the Godavari and South Arcot districts. There is some decrease in the Deccan districts owing to the unfavourable nature of the season there.

Bombay and Sind (2.8 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India)—The total area planted is reported to be 101,000 acres (40,000 acres being in the Native States). This is 4 per cent below the area reported at the corresponding date of last year. The crop suffered to some extent everywhere from the prolonged break in the middle of the season and from the absence of September rains in Gujarat. The deficiency has, however, been partially made up by the extended recourse to irrigation, and the crop is reported to be doing fairly well in most places.

Assam (1.5 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India)—The area is estimated at 32,000 acres, which is 6 per cent below the area reported at this date last year. The weather on the whole has improved since the issue of the first forecast, and the prospects of the crop appear to be generally favourable.

North-West Frontier Province (1.3 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India)—The area sown up to the end of September is estimated at 31,000 acres, which is 3 per cent above the area reported at this date last year. The figure given in the corresponding forecast of last year was, however, an underestimate. The condition of the standing crop is at present fair, and an average outturn may be expected.

Central Provinces and Berar (0.9 per cent of the total area under sugarcane in British India).—The area is estimated at 28,000 acres, being 12 per cent above the corresponding estimate of last year. In August and the first part of September the rainfall though generally light was well distributed; since then, very little rain has been received. The prospects of the crop are at present all that could be desired, and for the province as a whole the probable outturn is estimated at 106 per cent of the normal.

Chart.—The chart below shows the estimates of area now made as compared with the final figures of the preceding nine years.

Sugarcane crop in Foreign Countries—From the latest information published by the International Institute of Agriculture, Rome, it appears that in Cuba the weather was favourable for planting and for growth of cane, but rains have interrupted the gathering of the crop in some places. In Egypt the weather was on the whole favourable, although changeable. The growth is reported to be satisfactory and early planted cane is doing well.

From unofficial sources it appears that in Australia owing to large areas having been devastated by cyclones, the sugarcane crop in 1918 will fall far short of that obtained in 1917. The condition of the Louisiana crop is reported to be decidedly encouraging, and a normal yield is expected, as against 85 per cent in 1917. The weather is reported to have been favourable for the Hawaiian crop.

No. 2588.—The Governor General in Council is pleased to direct the publication, for general information, of the following telegram from the Secretary of State for India :—

Dated London, the 5th November 1918

From—The Secretary of State for India,

To—The Viceroy.

The War Cabinet have sent the following . . .

At the close of victorious operations of His Majesty's forces against the armies of the Ottoman Empire War Cabinet desire to offer their cordial congratulations to your Government and to Princes and peoples of India who have loyally answered your call. In every theatre Indian troops recruited, trained and partly equipped by you have not only maintained but even enhanced fame of Indian Army while the valour and discipline of the martial races of India have been supported by cheerful endurance and devotion of Indian labour behind lines. Economic resources of India have been successfully organised by Munitions of War Board and Indian capital has been freely forthcoming. For the vast mechanism that was necessary to achieve these results your Government was responsible and notably His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief Sir Charles Monro whose military skill, unsparing energy and sagacious counsel have greatly contributed to the success of the Indian Arms. Your efforts have been crowned with victory. A great danger has been averted from your borders and in what was once the enemy's country peoples who have suffered centuries of misrule have been set free. We congratulate India that under your guidance she has thus played a part worthy of her traditions.

REWARDS.

No 2652.—The following are the particulars of the acts of gallantry for which admissions to the Indian Order of Merit were sanctioned in the Fourth Supplement, dated 26th May 1917, to the London Gazette of 26th May 1917, republished in Army Department Notification No. 273, dated 9th February 1918.

Admitted to the 2nd class of the Order.

Jemadar Wazir Singh, Cavalry.

On the 11th April 1917, he was one of a party under a British officer sent forward to cut the wire to make a passage for the cavalry. Coming suddenly under machine gun fire 22 of the party of 55 were hit and the officer fell mortally wounded. Jemadar Wazir Singh helped to carry him behind a railway embankment 500 yards in the rear. He then took out 4 men and brought in two wounded men under shell and machine gun fire.

Subadar Jan Gul, Punjabis.

For conspicuous gallantry on the 27th September 1916. By his courageous example he led his men across the open up to 300 yards from the enemy's position, maintained them there for three hours and successfully withdrew. Through out this time the enemy's fire was very heavy. This Indian officer had with him 20 rifles, and desired to lead a charge, but this was considered inadvisable owing to the enemy's superiority in numbers.

No. 4799 Naik Punna Khan, Pathans.

For conspicuous gallantry on the 27th September 1916 when he maintained his machine gun for three hours under heavy frontal machine gun and rifle fire 300 yards from the enemy's position. During this time the enemy brought up another machine gun on his right flank in order to enfilade our lines, but Punna Khan silenced this machine gun every time it opened fire until he was wounded.

No. 596, Sepoy Munsib Dar Baluchis.

For conspicuous gallantry on the 7th December 1916 as No 1 of his gun. He was continuously at his gun under heavy artillery and machine gun fire. He had no cover. His fire kept down the fire of two hostile machine guns being employed against the redoubt on his left. He was dangerously wounded next day, and has since died of his wounds.

No. 2238, Sepoy Satta Singh, Jind Imperial Service Infantry.

For conspicuous gallantry on the 9th October 1916. The regiment having occupied some of the enemy's trencher, it became necessary to halt. In order to carry out a further advance, it was necessary to proceed along a communication trench which was enfiladed. In this trench, which was subject to a hot fire from the fort, were lying a number of killed, whose bodies impeded the advance. Sepoy Satta Singh assisted by No. 1492, Sepoy Khiwan Singh, proceeded forward under fire and removed the corpses which were blocking the way.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 2nd November 1918.

Burma.—In Lower Burma the rainfall was scanty. Good rain fell in three districts in the dry zone of Upper Burma. In the remaining districts light showers were received or no rain fell. In Upper Burma reaping of autumn rice and picking of cotton continue. Standing crops are in satisfactory condition. Cattle are generally healthy. The price of unhusked rice has increased to Rs 180 and is much above normal. The market for white rice is strong at Rs. 412 and annas 8 per hundred baskets for specials.

Assam.—During the week the weather was seasonable. Manufacture of tea and ploughing for and sowing of mustard and pulses are proceeding. Prospects of crops are generally fair. Cattle disease is reported from two districts. The price of common rice continues to fall seasonably.

Bengal.—During the week light showers fell in a few places. More rain is urgently wanted throughout the Province. Winter rice is reported to be withering in some districts. In northern and western Bengal prospects of crops are generally unfavourable. Elsewhere they are fair. Fields are being prepared for spring crops. Sowings are being impeded for want of rain. The price of common rice has risen by 2·6 per cent.

Bihar and Orissa.—During the week light showers fell in Orissa and in parts of the Bhagalpur and Tirhut divisions. The rainfall in these parts, though scanty, has done some good to the standing paddy crops but elsewhere they are withering especially in the Patna and Chota Nagpur divisions. Sowing of spring crops is being retarded and prospects are bad. The price of common rice has fallen in six districts and remained stationary in the remaining districts as compared with that of the preceding week. Cattle disease is reported from eleven districts. Paddy is suffering for want of rain in the Feudatory States of Orissa.

United Provinces.—During the week light rain fell in the central Himalayan districts but there was no rain elsewhere. It is very urgently needed. Damage to crops is nearly general for want of rain. Preparation of land for and sowing of spring crops, harvesting of autumn crops and picking of cotton continue. Irrigating is going on where practicable. Standing crops are mostly suffering. Prospects are still unfavourable. Agricultural stock is in fair condition but slight cattle disease is still reported from some districts. Fodder is available but is scarce and dear. Water is sufficient except in a few districts. The market supplies are inadequate in some places. Prices are almost stationary with a slight tendency to fall.

Punjab.—Light rain fell in parts of the Central and submontane districts and was useful. Elsewhere the weather remained dry. Rain is badly wanted everywhere. Standing crops are generally average on irrigated area but poor, owing to drought, on unirrigated area. Picking of cotton and reaping of other autumn crops are in progress. The yield is below normal to normal. Sowings of spring crops continue and are below normal to normal. Influenza epidemic is hindering agricultural operations in a few districts. Cattle are generally healthy and water is sufficient. Shortage of fodder is reported in some districts. Prices are generally stationary and are above scarcity rates. Price of wheat:—Ambala 6, Ferozepore, Lahore and Rawalpindi 6½ and Lyallpur 6½ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—Report not received. The previous week's report was as follows:—The week was rainless. Rain is much needed. Sowings of spring crops are proceeding normally. The condition of standing crops is average on irrigated and below average on unirrigated areas in Peshawar and Bannu and poor in Dera Ismail Khan. Maize is being reaped in Peshawar with outturn average. The price of wheat in Peshawar is 7½ and in Dera Ismail Khan 7½ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—No rain fell during the week. Prices are stationary.

Kashmir.—During the week the weather was generally rainy and cold. Operations for spring crops have commenced. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are high.

Rajputana.—During the week the weather was rainless. Irrigated crops are in fair condition but unirrigated crops are withering. Sowings of spring crops are restricted. The condition of cattle is generally fair. Fodder is getting scarce. Water is sufficient. Prices are high and rising.

Central India.—During the week the rainfall was insufficient in Baghelkhand and Bundelkhand. Spring crops are being sown where possible. Standing crops are indifferent in Gwalior, bad in Baghelkhand and withering elsewhere except in the Southern States. Their probable outturn is almost nil in Bundelkhand except in Panna, Bijawar and Ajaigarh, far below average in Baghelkhand, below average in Dhar and Jhabua, average to 12 annas in Gwalior, (except in the northern districts) and Bhopal and fair elsewhere. Crops have mostly failed in northern districts of Gwalior and have been damaged in Bundelkhand and in parts of Bhopal, Malwa and the Southern States and have been seriously damaged in Baghelkhand for want of rain. Agricultural stock is fair. Scarcity of fodder prevails in Gwalior, Malwa and in parts of the Southern States. Prices are high. Scarcity is apprehended in parts of Malwa.

Central Provinces.—During the week the weather has been clear and the nights and the mornings cool. No rain fell during the week. Harvesting of autumn crops, picking of cotton and sowing of spring crops continue. Rain is urgently required everywhere for spring crops. Cattle disease prevails in parts of Bhandara and Chanda. Fodder is dear or scarce in Chhindwara and Berar. Agricultural stock is generally in good condition. Relief works continue in the Sironcha tahsil of the Chanda district. Wheat and rice in Damoh rose while rice in Wardha, gram in Chanda and rice in Balaghat fell by 1 to 1½ seers per rupee. Elsewhere prices remained stationary or fluctuated slightly.

Feudatory States:—Rain is wanted everywhere.

Bombay.—No rain fell during the week. Standing crops have been damaged by disease in the Upper Sind Frontier and Larkana and are withering generally everywhere. Harvesting of autumn crops continues. Sowing of spring crops is nearly over. Picking of cotton continues in Nawabshah, Khandesh and Dharwar. The fodder supply is generally deficient. Agricultural stock is generally sufficient but cattle are deteriorating in many districts. Irrigation is deficient in parts of Sind, Kaira, Surat and the Karnatak. Prices of food grains are high but generally steady.

Hyderabad.—Report not received. The previous week's report was as follows—During the week the rainfall was nil. Autumn crops are being harvested and have suffered in parts. Early rice is in fair to good condition and is being harvested. Spring crops are being sown. Sprouts badly need rain. They have been damaged by insects in parts of the Nalgonda district. No. 2697.—The Royal Red Cross Warrant, dated the 10th November 1915, and a Royal Warrant, dated the 30th April 1918, amending the Sixth Clause thereof, are republished for information :—

The Royal Red Cross Warrant

GEORGE R. I.

GEORGE THE FIFTH by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India. To all whom these Presents shall come Greeting :—

Whereas Her late Majesty Our Beloved Grandmother Queen Victoria by a Warrant dated the 23rd day of April, 1883, did institute, constitute and create a Decoration designated "The Royal Red Cross" to be awarded in recognition of special services rendered in nursing, the sick and wounded of Our Army and Navy and did make, ordain and establish certain rules and ordinances for the government of the same, which rules and ordinances were subsequently amended by Royal Warrants dated the 11th day of December, 1897, the 24th day of July 1902, and the 8th day of September, 1909 :

And whereas it is Our Royal Will and Pleasure that further provision shall be made for recognition of such special services rendered in nursing the sick and wounded of Our Army and Navy :

Now therefore We do hereby declare that the rules and ordinances heretofore in force for the government of the said Decoration shall be abrogated, cancelled and annulled, and We are pleased to make, ordain and establish the following rules and ordinances in substitution for the same, which shall from henceforth be inviolably observed and kept :—

Firstly : The Decoration shall be styled and designated "The Royal Red Cross," and shall be divided into two Classes.

The First Class shall consist of a Cross enamelled red, edged with gold having on the arms thereof the words Faith, Hope, Charity, with the date of the institution of the Decoration, the centre having thereon in relief the Royal and Imperial Effigy. On the reverse thereof the Royal and Imperial Cipher and Crown shall be shown in relief on the centre.

The Second Class shall consist of a Cross which shall be of the same form and size as in the First Class, but shall be of frosted silver and shall have superimposed thereon a Maltese Cross enamelled red not exceeding half its dimensions, the centre having thereon in relief the Royal and Imperial Effigy. The reverse shall have inscribed on the arms thereof the words Faith, Hope, Charity and the date of the institution of the original Decoration, and shall bear in the centre in relief the Royal and Imperial Cipher and Crown.

Secondly : The Cross in either Class shall be attached to a dark blue riband edged red of one inch in width, tied in a bow and worn on the left shoulder.

Thirdly : The Decoration may be worn by the Queen Regnant, the Queen Consort, or the Queen Dowager of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland ; and it shall be competent for Us, Our Heirs and Successors, to confer the Decoration upon any of the Princesses of the Royal Family of Great Britain and Ireland ; also upon the Queens or Princesses of Foreign Countries who may have specially exerted themselves in providing for the nursing of the sick and wounded of Foreign Armies and Navies.

Fourthly : It shall be competent for Us, Our Heirs and Successors, to confer either Class of this Decoration upon any members of the Nursing Services without restriction as to rank, or upon other persons engaged in nursing duties whether subjects or foreign persons, who may be recommended to Our notice by Our Secretary of State for War or by the First Lord of the Admiralty, as the case may be, for special devotion and competency which they may have displayed in their nursing duties with Our Army in the Field, or in Our Naval and Military Hospitals.

Fifthly : The number of awards in the First Class of the Decoration shall not exceed two per cent. of the total establishment of Nurses, and the number of awards in the Second Class of the Decoration shall not exceed five per cent. of the total establishment of Nurses, the allotments to be proportionate to the numbers of each Nursing Service provided nevertheless that it shall be competent for Us, Our Heirs and Successors to make such additions as, under exceptional circumstances, We may deem fitting.

Sixthly : Recipients of the Second Class of the Decoration shall be eligible for advancement to the First Class as vacancies may arise.

Seventhly : Recipients of the First Class of the Decoration shall be designated Members of the Royal Red Cross, and shall be entitled to the letters R.R.C. following their names. Recipients of the Second Class of the Decoration shall be designated Associates of the Royal Red Cross, and shall be entitled to the letters A.R.R.C. following their names.

Eighthly : It shall be competent for Us, Our Heirs and Successors, to confer either Class of the Decoration upon any ladies, whether subjects or foreign persons, who may be recommended to Our notice by Our Secretary of State for War as having voluntarily undertaken the duties of establishing, conducting or assisting in hospitals for the treatment of sick and wounded soldiers and sailors of Our Army and Navy, or of Our Indian Military Forces or of the Naval and Military Forces of Our Self-governing Dominions beyond the Seas, or as having performed valuable services with the Red Cross or kindred societies at home or abroad, or as having otherwise rendered eminent services in the care of sick and wounded soldiers and sailors of Our Army and Navy; and it is hereby ordained that all persons appointed under this Clause shall be regarded as Honorary Members or Associates, and their appointments shall be additional to the establishment ordained in the Fifth Clause of this Our Royal Warrant.

Ninthly: The names of those upon whom We may be pleased to confer the Decoration shall be published in the London Gazette, and a register thereof kept in the office of Our Secretary of State for War.

Tenthly: In order to make such additional provision as shall effectually preserve pure this honourable distinction, it is ordained that if any person on whom such distinction shall be conferred shall by her conduct become unworthy of it, her name shall be erased, by an order under the Royal Sign Manual, from the register of those upon whom the said Decoration shall have been conferred. And it is hereby declared that We, Our Heirs and Successors, shall be the sole judge of the conduct which may require the erasure from the register of the name of the offending person, and that it shall at all times be competent for Us, Our Heirs and Successors, to restore the name if such restoration should be justified by the circumstances of the case.

Lastly: We reserve to Ourselves, Our Heirs and Successors, full power of annulling, altering, abrogating, augmenting, interpreting, or dispensing with these Regulations, or any part thereof, by a notification under the Royal Sign Manual.

Given at Our Court at St. James's, this 10th day of November, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, in the sixth year of Our Reign.

By His Majesty's Command,

H. H. ASQUITH.

It is Our Will and Pleasure and We do hereby ordain that the Sixth Clause of Our said Royal Warrant shall, as from the date thereof, be read as follows:—

Sixthly.—Recipients of the Second Class of the Decoration shall be eligible for advancement to the First Class as vacancies may arise, and on such advancement the Cross shall be returned to the office of Our Secretary of State for War.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
9th November 1918.

Burma.—Except Tavoy and Mergui where falls of 1.86 inches were recorded, the week was rainless. Harvesting of early rice, picking of cotton and gathering of ground-nuts continue in Upper Burma. Standing crops are doing well. Cattle are healthy. The price of unhusked rice has risen to Rs. 1.65 and is much above normal. The market for white rice is easier than that of the preceding week at Rs. 4.00 per hundred baskets for specials.

Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Manufacture of tea and sowing of mustard and pulses continue. Harvesting of winter rice and cotton has commenced in places. Prospects of crops are generally fair. Cattle disease is reported from three districts. The price of common rice continues to fall seasonably.

Bengal.—The week was practically rainless. The winter rice crop is badly affected by drought. The condition and prospects of crops in western and northern Bengal are generally unsatisfactory but they are fair in eastern Bengal. Sowings of spring crops are proceeding with difficulty for want of rain moisture.

Bihar and Orissa.—There was no rain during the week. Harvesting of early winter paddy has begun. In Chota Nagpur considerable damage has been done to paddy crops by drought which has also retarded sowing of spring crops in several districts. Prospects are bad. The price of common rice has risen in one district; fallen in four and remained stationary in the remaining districts as compared with that of the preceding week. Cattle disease is reported from several districts. Paddy is withering for want of rain in the feudatory States of Orissa.

United Provinces.—With the exception of light rain in Dehra Dun, Almora, Naini Tal, Saharanpur, Moradabad and Aligarh Districts and Tehri State, the week was rainless and rain is urgently wanted everywhere. Damage to standing crops owing to drought is generally reported. Damage is also reported by insects in Billia and part of the Benares State. Preparation of land for and sowing of spring crops, harvesting and irrigation of autumn crops and sugarcane continue. Pressing of sugarcane has commenced in a few places. Picking of cotton continues in places. Standing crops are withering. Prospects are unfavourable. The condition of agricultural stock is fairly good though slight cattle disease is still reported. Fodder is dear and getting scarce in many districts. Water and market supplies are sufficient except in a few districts. Prices are generally stationary with a tendency to rise.

Punjab.—Report not received.

North-West Frontier Province.—The week was rainless. Rain is much needed. Sowings of spring crops are in progress in Peshawar and in Dera Ismail Khan but are restricted in Bannu. Prospects of standing crops are average on irrigated and below average on unirrigated areas in Peshawar and Bannu and poor in Dera Ismail Khan, owing to drought. Maize and chari are being reaped with outturn average. The price of wheat in Peshawar is 7½ and in Dera Ismail Khan 7 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—No rain fell during the week. Prices are stationary.

Kashmir.—The week was generally dry and cold. Agricultural operations for spring crops are in progress. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are high.

Rajputana.—During the week the weather was rainless. Harvesting of crops in irrigated areas is proceeding in certain places but the crops in unirrigated areas are withering. Prospects are poor. Sowings of spring crops are restricted. The condition of cattle is generally fair but they are weak in a few places owing to scarcity of fodder. Cattle disease has broken out in certain places. Water is sufficient. Prices are high and in some places rising.

Central India.—No rain fell during the week. Spring crops are being sown and autumn crops harvested. Standing crops have withered in Bundelkhand; are bad in Gwalior and Baghelkhand, suffering for want of rain in Bhopal and Malwa and fair in Indore and the Southern States. The probable outturn is almost nil in Bundelkhand except Panna and Bijawar, far below average in Baghelkhand, below average in Dhar and Mandla, average to 12 annas in Bhopal and Gwalior except Gwalior Prant, and fair elsewhere. Crops have mostly failed in the Northern districts of Gwalior, have been damaged in Bundelkhand and parts of Bhopal, Malwa and the southern States and seriously damaged in Baghelkhand for want of rain. Agricultural stock is bad in Gwalior, poor in Malwa and fair elsewhere. Scarcity of fodder prevails in Gwalior, Indore, Malwa and in parts of the southern States. Prices are high.

Central Provinces.—Report not received.

Bombay.—During the week good rain fell in parts of the Konkan, the Karnatak, South Deccan, Kolhapur and Savantvadi. Prospects of spring crops have improved in these tracts. Standing crops are withering in many places. Harvesting of autumn crops generally continues. Sowing of spring crops is nearly over. Cotton picking continues in Nawabshah, Thar and Parker, Khandesh, Rewa Kantha and Dharwar. The fodder supply is generally deficient but pasture has been improved in some places by the recent rain. Agricultural stock is generally sufficient but cattle are deteriorating in parts of Karachi, Hyderabad, Ahmedabad, Kaira, the Deccan, Kolhapur and Kashiwar. Irrigation is deficient in parts of Sind, Kaira, Surat, Poona, Sholapur and the Karnatak. Prices of food-grains are high but generally steady.

Hyderabad.—Report not received. The previous week's report was as follows:— During the week the rainfall was nil. Harvesting of autumn crops continues. Crops have suffered. Early rice is in fair to good condition and is being harvested. Spring crops are being sown. Sprouts badly need rain. They have been damaged by insects in parts of the Nalgonda district. Cattle are healthy. Fodder scarcity prevails in parts of three districts. Prices of grains are abnormally high. Juar is selling at 3 seers per rupee in the Bir, Parbhani and Gulbarga districts.

Mysore.—Report not received. The previous week's report was as follows:— The week was slightly wet in the Bangalore and Kolar districts. Standing crops are withering for want of rain. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are rising.

Coorg.—Moderate rain fell during the week. Picking of cardamom and reaping of dry crops continue. Rice is in fair condition. Picking of coffee has commenced in parts. Cattle disease prevails in some villages. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient. The public health is fair. Prices of food-grains are high.

Madras.—During the week the rainfall was very heavy in the Carnatic, Tanjore, Ramnad, South Kanara and in the Hills, heavy in Chittoor, North Arcot, Coimbatore, Pudukkottai, Madura, Malabar and Cochin, good in Kurnool, Cuddapah, Salem and Trichinopoly and light or fair elsewhere. Standing crops are improving in parts but are withering elsewhere for want of rain. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops is limited with outturn poor in two districts and parts of seven others. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are proceeding but are restricted in parts for want of rain. The condition of cattle is generally good. Water is insufficient except in Cuddapah, Nellore, Chingleput, the west coast and the hills. Pasture is sufficient except in three districts and parts of six others. Fodder is sufficient except in three districts and parts of three others. Prices have risen generally. Prospects are likely to improve in the coast districts but are uncertain elsewhere owing to monsoon conditions.

Nepal.—Report for the quarter ending 15th October 1918.—The rainfall for the period was 19.09 inches against 22.55 inches for the corresponding period of last year.

July and August 1918.—Pears and apples were gathered in Nepal and the outturn was good. Rice was transplanted in the Terai.

September 1918.—Chillies, early rice and Indian corn were harvested in the hills and in the Nepal Valley, but owing to continuous rainfall the outturn was not so good as was expected. Early winter vegetables, mustard and potatoes for the first crop commenced to be sown in Nepal. The sowing of garlic and onions was in progress.

October 1918.—Autumn rice and millets are now being harvested in the hills and valleys. Lands are being prepared for the sowing of wheat, barley peas and spring crops. The market is well stocked and the prices of foodstuffs continue normal. The health of livestock is reported to be good.

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. These rules may be called the Rajputana Railway Lands Explosives Rules, 1918.
2. Nothing in these rules shall apply—
 - (i) to the manufacture, possession, sale, packing, transport or importation of paper caps for toy pistols, under such conditions and in such quantities as the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor-General in Rajputana, or, in the case of transport by rail, the Railway Board, on the recommendation of the Chief Inspector of Explosives, may from time to time determine;
 - (ii) to
 - (a) the manufacture, possession and sale of tri-nitro-toluol, or
 - (b) the transport and importation of the same when it is packed in staunch and substantial barrels or in cases constructed of wood not less than one inch in thickness.*

*Further exemptions are made by section 14 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, which runs as follows:—
 "Nothing in this Act shall apply to the manufacture, possession, use, sale, transport or importation of any explosive—

(a) by order of the Government, or
 (b) by any person employed under the Government in the execution of this Act, or as a keeper of a magazine, artizan, soldier, sailor, policeman or otherwise, or enrolled as a volunteer, under the Indian Volunteers Act, 1869, in the course of his employment or duty as such."

3. In these rules, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context :—

Definitions.

Railway lands.

(2) "Ammunition" means any explosive when the same is enclosed in any case or contrivance; or is otherwise adapted or prepared, so as to form—

(a) a cartridge or charge for small-arms, cannon or any other weapon, or for blasting, or

(b) a safety or other fuze for blasting or for shells, or

(c) a tube for firing explosives, or

(d) a percussion-cap, detonator, fog-signal, shell, torpedo, war-rocket, or any other contrivance other than a fire-work.

(3) "Authorised explosive" means an explosive included in a list of authorised explosives prepared by the Chief Inspector of Explosives with the Government of India and in force for the time being.

(4) "Chlorate-mixture" means any explosive containing a chlorate.

(5) "Detonator" means a capsule or case which is of such strength and construction, and contains fulminate in such quantity, that the explosion of one capsule or case would communicate the explosion to other like capsules or cases.

(6) "District authority" means the officer exercising the powers of a District Magistrate.

(7) "Fulminate" means any chemical compound or mechanical mixture whatever, which, from its great susceptibility to detonation, is suitable for employment in percussion-caps or any other appliances for developing detonation, or which, from its extreme sensibility to explosion and from its great instability (that is to say, readiness to undergo decomposition from very slight exciting causes), is especially dangerous.

(8) "Gunpowder" means gunpowder ordinarily so called.

(9) "Nitrate-mixture" means any preparation, other than gunpowder, which is formed by the mechanical mixture of nitrate with any form of carbon or with any carbonaceous substance not possessed of explosive properties, whether sulphur be or be not added to such preparation, and whether such preparation be or be not mechanically mixed with any other non-explosive substance:

and includes such explosives as—

Chilworth special powder,

Ammonal,

Bobbinite, and Westfallite.

(10) "Nitro-compound" means any chemical compound which is possessed of explosive properties or is capable of combining with metals to form an explosive compound, and is produced by the chemical action of nitric acid (whether mixed or not with sulphuric acid), or of a nitrate mixed with sulphuric acid upon any carbonaceous substance, whether such compound is mechanically mixed with other substances or not

(11) "Small-arm nitro-compound" means a nitro-compound adopted and intended exclusively for use in cartridges for small-arms.

(12) "Safety cartridge"—

(i) means a cartridge for small-arms, the case of which can be extracted from the small-arm after firing, and which is so closed as to prevent any explosion in one cartridge being communicated to other cartridges; and

(ii) includes a rifle-calibre machine-gun cartridge, if it is as described in clause (i) whether it is for use with a machine-gun having chambers identical with those of rifles or with a machine-gun having special chambers:

Provided that the diameter of the cartridge in either case (i) or case (ii) does not exceed one inch.

(13) "Safety fuze" means a fuze for blasting which burns and does not explode, and which does not contain its own means of ignition, and which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive in such quantity, that the burning of such fuze would not communicate laterally with other like fuzes.

(14) "Testing authority" means the Chemical Examiner or such other officer as the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor-General in Rajputana may appoint in this behalf.

CHAPTER II.

Where a carrier, or the owner or the master of a vessel, is prevented from complying with these rules by the wilful act, neglect or default of the consignor or consignee of the explosive, or other person, or by the improper refusal of the consignee or other person to accept delivery of the explosive, such consignor, consignee or other person who is guilty of such wilful act, neglect, default or refusal shall be liable to the same penalty to which the carrier, owner or master is liable for a breach of these rules, and his conviction shall exempt the carrier, owner or master from any penalty under these rules. Saving of liability of carrier and owner and master of a ship for breach of these rules when consignee, etc., is in fault

Precaution in the case of high explosives.

118. Vehicles containing explosives shall be placed at the end of the train away from the locomotive, and shall be close-coupled to one another as well as to the adjoining vehicles and shall be preceded and followed by three vehicles not loaded with explosives or other article or substance of an inflammable nature. SCHEDULE I.

PRESCRIBED TESTS.

[Vide rule 16.]

I.—Heat Test as applied to Explosives of the Nitro-compound Class.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS.

Apparatus required.

1. A water bath, consisting of a spherical glass or copper vessel [(a) Fig. I] of about 8 inches diameter, and with an aperture of about 5 inches; the bath is filled with water to within a quarter of an inch of the edge. It has a loose cover of sheet copper about 6 inches in diameter (b), and rests on a tripod stand about 14 inches high (c), which is covered with coarse iron wire gauze (e), and is surrounded with a screen of thin sheet tin or copper (d). Within the latter is placed an Argand burner (f), with glass chimney. The cover (b) has four holes arranged as seen in Fig. II, No. 1 to receive the regulator, No. 3 the thermometer, Nos 1 and 2 the test-tubes containing the gun-cotton or other materials to be tested. Around holes 1 and 2 on the under side of the cover are soldered three pieces of brass wire with points slightly converging (Fig. III); these act as springs and allow the test-tubes to be easily placed in position and removed.

- * 2. Scheibler's or Page's temperature regulator.
- * 3. Two cells of Le Clanché's battery No. 1 }
- * 4. A few yards of insulated copper wire } if Scheibler's regulator is used.
- 5. Test-tubes from 5½ to 5¾ inches long, and of such diameter that they will hold from 20 to 22 cubic centimetres of water when filled to a height of 5 inches.
- 6. India-rubber stoppers, fitting the test-tubes and carrying an arrangement for holding the test-paper, viz., a narrow glass tube passing through the centre of the stopper, drawn out so as to form a hook, or terminating in a platinum wire hook (Fig. IV).
- 7. A thermometer, with range not less than from 30° to 212° Fahrenheit
- 8. A minute clock.

Materials required.

(a) Test-paper.—The test-paper is prepared as follows :—45 grains of white maize starch (cornflour), previously washed with cold water, are added to 8½ ounces of distilled water; the mixture is stirred, heated to boiling, and kept gently boiling for 10 minutes; 15 grains of pure potassium iodide (i.e., which has been re-crystallized from alcohol) are dissolved in 8½ ounces of distilled water. The two solutions are thoroughly mixed and allowed to get cold. Strips, or sheets, of best white English filter paper, weighing air dry, from 4.1 to 4.6

grammes per 100 square inches, previously washed with water and re-dried, are dipped into the solution thus prepared, and allowed to remain in it for not less than 10 seconds; they are then allowed to drain and dry in a place free from laboratory fumes and dust. The upper and lower margins of the strips, or sheets, are cut off, and the paper is preserved in well-stoppered or corked bottles and in the dark. * The dimensions of the pieces of test-paper used are about $\frac{1}{8}$ inch by $\frac{1}{8}$ inch (10 mm. by 20 mm.).

(b) Standard tint-paper.—A solution of caramel in water is made of such concentration that when diluted one hundred times (10 cc. made up to 1 litre) the tint of this diluted solution equals the tint produced by the Nessler test in 100 cc. water containing 0.000075 gm. of ammonia or 0.00023505 gm. of chloride of ammonium. With this caramel solution lines are drawn on strips of white filter paper† by means of a clean quill pen. When the marks thus produced are dry the paper is cut into pieces of the same size as the test-paper previously described, in such a way that each piece has a brown line across it near the middle of its length, and only such strips are preserved in which the brown line has a breadth varying from $\frac{1}{4}$ mm. to 1 mm. ($\frac{1}{80}$ of an inch to $\frac{1}{20}$ of an inch).

II.—Testing Dynamite, Blasting Gelatine, and other Explosives of the First Division of the Nitro-compound Class.

A.—DYNAMITE, ETC., ETC.

Nitro-glycerine preparations, from which the nitro-glycerine can be extracted in the manner described below, must satisfy the following test.

This test, however, though at present looked upon as the most important as far as testing the purity of the nitro-glycerine is concerned, is in England only one of several which any given sample of nitro-glycerine preparation has to satisfy in order to establish its compliance with the definition in the Authorised List.

Apparatus required.

A funnel 2 inches across (d), a cylindrical measure divided into grains (e) (See sketch).

Mode of operation

About 300 to 100 grains of dynamite (b) finely divided are placed into the funnel which has previously been loosely plugged by some freshly-ignited asbestos (a).

The surface is smoothed by means of a flat-headed glass rod or stopper, and some clean washed and dried Kieselguhr (c) is spread over it to the depth of about $\frac{1}{4}$ inch.

Water is next carefully dropped from a wash bottle upon this Kieselguhr, and when the first portion has been soaked up more is added; this is repeated until sufficient nitro-glycerine has been collected in the graduated measure (e) below.

If any water should have passed through with the nitro-glycerine, it should be removed with a piece of blotting paper, and the nitro-glycerine, if necessary, filtered through a dry paper filter.

* When a paper is freshly prepared, and as long as it remains in good condition, a drop of dilute acetic acid, put on the paper with a glass rod, produces no coloration. In process of time, however, the stronger the light to which the paper is exposed, the sooner a drop of acid produces a brown or bluish coloration (a single hour of direct sunlight produces a marked effect), and whenever this is the case the paper should be rejected. After preparation the paper should be kept in the dark for a month before being taken into use. After that, if carefully kept in the dark, it will remain good for 6 months or more, but should be tested from time to time as above.

† This paper must be carefully washed with distilled water in the first instance, to remove any traces of bleaching matter, and dried.

Application of the Test.

The thermometer is fixed so as to be inserted through the lid of the water bath described under I, into the water (which is to be steadily maintained at a temperature of 160° Fahr.*) to a depth of 2½ inches. Fifty grains of nitro-glycerine to be tested are weighed into a test-tube in such a way as not to soil the sides of the tube. A test paper is fixed on the hook of the glass rod so that when inserted into the tube it will be in a vertical position. A sufficient amount of a mixture of half distilled water and half glycerine to moisten the upper half of the paper is now applied to the upper edge of the test-paper by means of a camel's-hair pencil, the cork carrying the rod and paper is fixed into the test-tube and the position of the paper adjusted, so that its lower edge is about half-way down the tube; the latter is then inserted through one of the perforations of the cover to such a depth that the lower margin of the moistened part of the paper is about five-eighths of an inch above the surface of the cover. The test is complete when the faint brown line, which after a time makes its appearance at the line of boundary between the dry and moist part of the paper, equals in tint the brown line of the standard tint paper.

The nitro-glycerine under examination will not be considered to have satisfied the test unless the time necessary to produce the standard tint as above described is at least 15 minutes.

B.—BLASTING GELATINE, GELATINE DYNAMITE, AND ANALOGOUS PREPARATIONS.

Fifty (50) grains of blasting gelatine are to be intimately incorporated with one hundred (100) grains of French chalk.† The mixture is to be gradually introduced into a test-tube of the dimensions prescribed above for the dynamite heat test, with the aid of gentle tapping upon the table, between the introduction of successive portions of the mixture into the tube, so that when the tube contains all the mixture it shall be filled to the extent of 1½ inches (one inch and three-quarters) of its height. The test-paper is then to be inserted and the heat is to be applied in the manner prescribed above for the dynamite heat test, and the sample tested is to withstand exposure to 160° Fahr. for a period of ten (10) minutes, before producing a discoloration of the test-papers corresponding in tint to the standard colour test which is employed for governing the results of the dynamite heat tests.

(For Exudation and Liquefaction tests for Blasting Gelatine, etc., etc., see Appendix.)

N.B. — Non-gelatinized nitro-glycerine preparations from which the nitro-glycerine cannot be expelled by water, are tested without any previous separation of the ingredients, the temperature being as above (160° Fahr.) and the time being seven (7) minutes.

C.—CORDITE AND BALLISTITE.1. Apparatus required.

The apparatus necessary for the application of the heat test to cordite is identical with that described above for explosives of the nitro-compound class generally‡ with the addition of a mill and a nest of sieves§ similar to those used at Waltham Abbey for preparing the cordite for testing (see instructions below).

2. Preparation of the sample to be tested.

Pieces half an inch long are cut from one end of every stick selected for the test; in the case of the thicker cordites, each piece so cut is further sub-divided into about four portions. These cut pieces are then passed once through the mill, the first portion of material which passes through being rejected on account of the possible presence of foreign matter from the mill. The ground material is put on the top sieve of the nest of sieves and sifted. The portion which has passed through the top sieve and been stopped by the second is taken for the test. If the mill is properly set the greater portion of the ground material will be of the proper size.

If the volatile matter in the explosive exceed 0.5 per cent the sifted material should be dried at a temperature not exceeding 140° Fahr. until the proportion does not exceed 0.5 per cent.

After each sample has been ground, the mill must be taken to pieces and carefully cleaned.

* For explosives supplied for His Majesty's Military and Naval Services the temperature is fixed by the War Office at 180°.

† This can be readily effected by carefully working the two materials together with a wooden pestle in a wooden mortar.

‡ The French chalk should be of good commercial quality, and, after being carefully washed with distilled water and dried in a water oven, it should be exposed under a bell jar to moist air until it has taken up about 0.5 per cent of moisture. It should then be bottled for use, and with ordinary care the limits of 0.5 per cent can be maintained in keeping.

§ In the Waltham Abbey apparatus the cover (Fig 11) has all the holes round the circumference instead of having one in the centre and three around the circumference.

¶ A nest of two sieves with the holes drilled in sheet copper. The holes in the top sieve have a diameter = 14 B. W. G., those in the second = 21 B. W. G.

If too hard for the mill, it may be softened by exposure to the vapour of acetone, or reduced to the necessary degree of sub-division by means of a sharp moderately coarse rasp. Should it have become too soft in the acetone vapour for the mill, it should be cut up into small pieces which may be brought to any desired degree of hardness by simple exposure to air.

Explosives which consist partly of gelatinized collodion cotton and partly of ungelatinized gun-cotton are best reduced to powder by a rasp, or softened by exposure to mixed ether and alcohol vapour at a temperature of 90° to 100° Fahr.

3. Application of the Test.

The thermometer is fixed so as to be inserted through the lid of the water bath described under paragraph 1, so as to be immersed in the water to a depth of $2\frac{1}{4}$ inches. The water is maintained at a constant temperature of 180° Fahr. When this temperature is reached, 25 grains of the sifted cordite are put into one of the test-tubes, and collected at the bottom by gentle tapping. A test paper is fixed on to the hook of the glass rod, so that when inserted into the tube it will be in a vertical position. A mixture of equal parts of distilled water and pure glycerine (Price's) is now applied to the upper edge of the test paper by means of a camel's-hair pencil, in sufficient amount to moisten the upper half; the stopper carrying the rod and paper is fixed into the test-tube and the position of the paper adjusted so that its lower edge is about half-way down the tube; the latter is then inserted through one of the perforations of the cover to the same depth as the thermometer. The lower margin of the moistened part of the paper should then be about five-eighths of an inch above the surface of the cover. The test is completed when the faint brown line, which after a time makes its appearance at the margin between the wet and dry portions of the test-paper, equals in depth of tint the brown line drawn on the standard tint paper.

4. The time which elapses between the insertion of the test tube and the completion of the test must not be less than 15 minutes.

N.B.—In the case of ballistite the treatment is the same except that when it is in a very finely granulated condition it need not be cut up.

III.—Testing Gun-cotton, Schultz's Gun Powder, E. C Powder, and other explosives, of the 2nd Division of the Nitro-compound Class.

A.—COMPRESSED NITRO-CELLULOSE, TONITE, ETC., ETC.

Sufficient material to serve for two or more tests is removed from the centre of the cartridge by gentle scraping, and, if necessary, further reduced by rubbing through a sieve with a clean hard brush.

The fine powder thus produced is spread out in a thin layer upon a paper tray 6 inches by $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches which is then placed inside a water oven, kept, as nearly as possible, at 120° Fahr.

The wire gauze shelves in the oven should be about 3 inches apart. The sample is allowed to remain at rest for 15 minutes in the oven, the door of which is left wide open.

After the lapse of 15 minutes the tray is removed and exposed to the air of the room for two hours, the sample being at some point within that time rubbed upon the tray with a brush in order to reduce it to a fine and uniform state of division.

Application of the Test.

The cover of the water bath is fitted with the gas regulator which is inserted through the centre (hole No 4). The thermometer is fixed into hole No 3. The water in the bath is then heated to 170° Fahr, and the regulator set to maintain that temperature. Twenty grains of the sample to be tested are weighed out, placed in the test-tube, and gently pressed down until the specimen occupies a space of not more than $1\frac{1}{8}$ inches in a test-tube of the dimensions specified. A test-paper is affixed to the hook of the glass rod or tube, and moistened by touching the upper edge with a drop of distilled water containing 50 per cent. of Price's glycerine. The quantity of liquid used must be only sufficient to moisten about half of the paper. The cork carrying the rod and test-paper is then fixed into the test-tube, and the latter inserted into the bath to a depth of $2\frac{1}{4}$ inches, measured from the cover, the regulator and thermometer being inserted to the same depth. The test-paper is to be kept near the top of the test tube, but clear of the cork, until the tube has been immersed for about five minutes. A ring of moisture will about this time be deposited upon the sides of the test-tube a little above the cover of the bath; the glass rod must then be lowered until the lower margin of the moistened part of the paper is on a level with the bottom of the ring of moisture in the tube: the paper is now closely watched. The test is complete when the faint brown line which makes its appearance at the line of boundary between the dry and moist parts of the paper, equals in tint the brown line of the standard tint paper.

The interval of time between the first insertion of the tube containing the sample of gun-cotton in the water at 170° and the production of the standard tint constitutes the test, and this interval of time must be not less than 10 minutes, or the sample will not be considered to have satisfied the test.

B.—GELATINIZED AND SEMI-GELATINIZED NITRO-CELLULOSE PREPARATIONS *

Twenty-five grains introduced into the test-tube * of the dimensions prescribed for the dynamite heat test, then proceed as for blasting gelatine, etc, taking the temperature at 180° Fahr., and the time as 15 minutes.

* If in a compressed form it should be broken up in the same manner as cordite and ballistite

C.—NITRO-CELLULOSE NOT INCLUDED IN A. OR B. SCHULTZ'S POWDER, E. C. POWDER, ETC, ETC.

Sufficient of the sample, without further mechanical division, is dried in the oven as above and then exposed for two hours to the air. The test as directed above for compressed nitro-cellulose, etc., is then applied, the minimum duration of test being the same, vis, 10 minutes.

D.—PICRIC ACID.

(1) The material shall contain not more than 0.3 part of mineral or non-combustible matter in 100 parts by weight of the material dried at 180° Fahr.

(2) It should not contain more than a minute trace of lead.

(3) One hundred parts of the dry material shall not contain more than 0.3 part of total (free and combined) sulphuric acid, of which not more than 0.1 part shall be free sulphuric acid.

(4) Its melting point should be between 215° and 253° Fahr.

E.—AMMONITE, BENITE, ROBURITE, AND EXPLOSIVES OF SIMILAR COMPOSITION.

These are required to stand the same heat test as compressed nitro-cellulose.

IV.—Testing Chlorate-Mixtures.

The material must not be too sensitive* and must show no tendency to increase in sensitivity on keeping.

The material must contain nothing liable to reduce the chlorate.

Chlorides calculated as potassium chloride must not exceed 0.25 per cent.

The material must contain no free acid, or substance liable to produce free acid.

Explosives of this class containing nitro-compounds will be subject to the heat test as if they belonged to Class III.

V.—Testing Ammunition (Divisions 2 and 3).

Any explosive made up into ammunition (other than Division 1), for which a test is provided in the schedule, is to be tested as if not so made up.

APPENDIX.

Exudation and Liquefaction Test for Blasting Gelatine, Gelatine Dynamite and analogous Preparations.

TEST FOR LIQUEFACTION.

A cylinder of blasting gelatine is to be cut from the cartridge to be tested, the length of the cylinder to be about equal to its diameter and the ends being cut flat.

The cylinder is to be placed on end on a flat surface without any wrapper, and secured by a pin passing vertically through its centre.

In this condition the cylinder is to be exposed for one hundred and forty-four (144) consecutive hours (six days and nights) to a temperature ranging from 85° to 90° Fahr. (inclusive), and during such exposure the cylinder shall not diminish in height by more than one-fourth of its original height, and the upper cut surface shall retain its flatness and the sharpness of its edge.

Note—If the blasting gelatine and the gelatine dynamite to be tested be not made up in a cylindrical form the above test is to be applied with the necessary modifications.

TEST FOR LIABILITY TO EXUDATION.

There shall be no separation from the general mass of the blasting gelatine or gelatine dynamite of a substance of less consistency than the bulk of the remaining portion of the materials under any conditions of storage, transport, or use, or when the material is subjected three times in succession to alternate freezing and thawing, or when subjected to the liquefaction test hereinbefore described.

* They will be considered too sensitive if they can be exploded however partially by means of a glancing blow with a broomstick on soft wood (such as deal).

Due provision shall be made, by the use of suitable working clothes without pockets, or of suitable shoes, or by searching or otherwise, or by some such means, for preventing the introduction into the magazine of fire, lucifer matches or any substance or article which is likely to cause explosion or fire; and for preventing the introduction of any grit, iron or steel into any part of the magazine where it would be likely to come into contact with explosives; and in any part of the magazine in which any explosive is kept which is liable to be dangerously affected by water, due precautions shall be taken to exclude water from such part; but this condition shall not prevent the introduction of an artificial light of such construction, position or character as not to cause any danger of fire or explosion; and so much of this condition as relates to the exclusion of grit, iron or steel shall not be obligatory in the case of a magazine in which no explosive other than explosives of the 1st Division of the 6th (ammunition) Class is kept.

12. No person shall smoke in any part of the magazine.

13. (1) The licensee shall not employ any vessel, barge or craft to carry an explosive to or from the magazine unless the cabin, hold or other part of the vessel, barge or craft in which the explosive is or is to be carried—

(a) is constructed without any exposed iron or steel in the interior thereof,

(b) contains only explosives, and

(c) is closed or otherwise properly covered over:

Provided that clause (a) shall not apply in the case of any vessel, barge or craft which carries no explosive other than explosives of the 1st Division of the 6th (ammunition) Class, or which is specially exempted by an order of the Chief Inspector of Explosives or by an order of the Hon'ble the Agent to the Governor-General in Rajputana endorsed on this license.

(2) The licensee shall see that the explosives to be placed on any vessel, barge or craft so employed are loaded, carried and unloaded with all due diligence and with such precautions and in such manner as will sufficiently guard against any accidental ignition.

14. The licensee shall see—

(a) that no fire, unprotected light or smoking is allowed while any explosive [other than explosives of the 1st Division of the 6th (ammunition) Class] is being received or delivered, or while the hatches or door of the magazine, or the hatches or coverings of any vessel, barge or craft alongside containing any such explosive, are open; and

(b) that no receipt or delivery of explosive is carried on, and that the hatches or door of the magazine are or is kept closed, when any vessel, barge or craft having on board a fire (other than engine-fires properly banked up) or an unprotected light is alongside a magazine containing an explosive other than explosives of the 1st Division of the 6th (ammunition) Class or in its immediate vicinity.

15. A person under the age of fourteen years shall not be employed in or enter the magazine, except in the presence and under the supervision of some grown-up person.

16. In the case of the magazine being approachable at low water by carriages, the words "vessel, barge, or craft," in Nos. 13 and 14 of these conditions, shall be taken to include a carriage.

17. (1) Two or more descriptions of explosives, which may lawfully be possessed in a licensed magazine, may be possessed in the same magazine, if they are separated from each other by an intervening partition of such substance and character, or by such intervening space, as will effectually prevent explosion or fire in one compartment from extending to another compartment :

(2) Provided as follows :—

NOTE.—Compared with the corresponding fortnight of the preceding year, there has been a general rise in the prices of all food grains in almost all the reporting Provinces, the most noteworthy being in rice in Sind and Baluchistan, in wheat in the Bombay Presidency, in barley, jawar, maize and gram in the United Provinces, and in arhar dāl in Delhi. The price of ghi also increased generally, the highest rise being in the Madras and Bombay Presidencies. The increase in the price of raw sugar in the North-West Frontier Province and of salt in the Punjab, the Bombay Presidency and the Central Provinces and Berar, is noticeable. The fall in the price of salt in Bihar and Orissa is also noteworthy.

Under exports, Burma showed an increase of 46 per cent, Bengal of 31 per cent, Bombay of 19 per cent, and Madras of 72 per cent, while Sind showed a decrease of 10 per cent. These comparisons are with the preceding month (September, 1918).

Average rate of exchange	October, 1917 d. 16.917	October, 1918 d. 18.00 (b)

In the seven months ended October, 1918, the excess of exports over imports of private merchandise was R48.54 lakhs, as against R47.31 lakhs in the corresponding period of 1917 and R33.70 lakhs in 1913. As the publication of treasure figures has been temporarily discontinued, it is not possible to give here the net (private) exports from April to October, nor the net balance of trade in the same period. It may, however, be of interest to note that the net (private) exports are higher than those of 1917 and also than those of 1916. The balance of trade, so far as shown by the statistics of merchandise, treasure, Council Bills, and Enfaced Rupee paper, in the seven months ended October, 1918, was in favour of India, but not to so large an extent as in 1916, while in the corresponding period of 1917 it was against India.

* Exclusive of Government transactions (other than articles of national importance in the case of exports.)

† Temporarily discontinued.

(a) The figures of exports of merchandise are subject to correction.

In the seven months ended October, 1916, the amount of Council Bills paid was Rs 13,85 lakhs. As regards Enfaced Rupee paper, about Rs 10 lakhs represented the amount of paper enfaced to London and Rs 14 lakhs the amount re-transferred from London in the seven months, April to October, 1918, while in the corresponding period of 1917, Rs 7 lakhs represented the amount of paper enfaced to London and about Rs 67 lakhs the amount re-transferred from London.

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN SELECTED ARTICLES IN SEPTEMBER, 1918.

The object of the tables appended is to show the quantities of the principal staples of agricultural produce imported from the various provinces, etc., and from foreign countries into the ports of Calcutta, Bombay, and Karachi, and into the Madras ports during the month of September, 1918, and for the six months, April to September, 1918, as compared with the corresponding periods of 1917. The statistics include sea-borne foreign and coasting trade as well as inland (rail and river-borne) trade. They have been furnished by Collectors of Customs, Steamer Companies, Railway Audit Officers, the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, etc.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN SEPTEMBER, 1917 AND 1918.

It will be seen from Table I that the imports by rail, river, and sea in September, 1918, as against the corresponding month of 1917, show (in round numbers) an increase of—

276 per cent in linseed	(25,900 tons as against 7,700 tons last year),
89 per cent in rape and mustard seed	(15,300 tons as against 5,100 tons last year),
82 per cent in gram and pulse	(35,300 tons as against 46,800 tons last year),
25 per cent in raw cotton	(69,200 bales as against 55,200 bales last year), and
24 per cent in rice (including paddy)	(93,200 tons as against 75,300 tons last year)

The imports of wheat (excluding wheat flour) by rail, river, and sea into ports show a decrease of 54 per cent (56,700 tons as against 124,500 tons last year), due mainly to smaller exports from the Punjab, the Central Provinces and Berar, and Rajputana and Central India. The decrease of 19 per cent (380,900 bales as against 468,500 bales last year) in the imports of jute is accounted for by smaller exports from Bengal, Assam and Bihar and Orissa. The decrease of one per cent (30,104,800 lbs. as against 30,378,600 lbs last year) in tea is due to smaller exports from Assam.

It will be seen from Table IV (wheat, excluding wheat flour) that the principal source of the imports in September, 1917, was the Punjab (59 per cent). During September, 1918, the principal sources of the imports were the Punjab (43 per cent) and the United Provinces (33 per cent of the total).

NOTE.— One bale of cotton or jute is equivalent to 400 lbs.

One maund is equivalent to 82½ lbs.

One maund of paddy is taken as equivalent to 25 seers of rice.

GENERAL RESULTS—SIX MONTHS' IMPORTS INTO THE PORTS FROM UP-COUNTRY, ETC., THIS YEAR AND LAST YEAR.

The six months' figures in table I show (in round numbers) an increase of—

- 59 per cent in jute
(2,338,200 bales as against 1,470,500 bales last year),
- 48 per cent in linseed
(150,400 tons as against 101,500 tons last year),
- 34 per cent in gram and pulse
(545,400 tons as against 408,000 tons last year),
- 13 per cent in tea
(129,148,100 lbs as against 114,310,800 lbs last year), and
- 9 per cent in rice, (including paddy)
(499,600 tons as against 460,200 tons last year).

The imports of wheat (excluding wheat flour) by rail, river, and sea into ports show a decrease of 51 per cent (699,200 tons as against 1,423,800 tons last year), mainly on account of smaller exports from the Punjab, Sind and British Baluchistan, Rajputana and Central India, and the Central Provinces and Berar. The decrease of 26 per cent (1,332,000 bales as against 1,804,200 bales last year) in raw cotton is accounted for by smaller exports into the ports chiefly from Bombay, the Central Provinces and Berar, Rajputana and Central India, Madras, and Sind and British Baluchistan. The imports of rape and mustard seed show a fall of 6 per cent (70,000 tons as against 74,500 tons last year), owing to smaller exports, principally from the United Provinces.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN SEPTEMBER, 1918, AS COMPARED WITH THE PREVIOUS MONTH.

As compared with August, 1918, the imports in September, 1918, into the ports referred to above show (in round numbers) a decrease of—

- 58 per cent in raw cotton
(69,200 bales as against 165,700 bales previous month),
- 33 per cent in jute
(380,900 bales as against 568,300 bales previous month),
- 14 per cent in linseed
(28,900 tons as against 33,600 tons previous month),
- 7 per cent in tea
(30,104,800 lbs as against 32,432,200 lbs previous month), and
- 6 per cent in gram and pulse
(85,300 tons as against 90,800 tons previous month),

and an increase of—

- 100 per cent in rape and mustard seed
(15,300 tons as against 7,600 tons previous month),
- 3 per cent in wheat (excluding wheat flour)
(56,700 tons as against 55,100 tons previous month), and
- 3 per cent in rice (including paddy)
(93,200 tons as against 90,400 tons previous month).

The Statistics for September, 1917 and 1918, as also for the six months ending September, 1917 and 1918, together with those for August and September, 1918, are summarised below :—

INSURANCE.

Simla, the 18th November 1918.

RESOLUTION.

The following review by the Actuary to the Government of India of the working of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, VI of 1912, for the year 1917, is published for general information.

Report by the Government Actuary on the working of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912, for the year 1917.

There are at present 68 companies subject to the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act. Of these 44 are Indian, 17 British, 4 Colonial, 2 are constituted in Shanghai and 1 is an American Company. The summaries relating to these concerns are now published in a form which has been found much more convenient than the former cumbrous method. The particulars of each company's accounts are now set forth so as to facilitate comparison not only with the corresponding particulars of other companies for the same year, but what is frequently more important, with the returns from the same company in previous years. Summaries of all the valuation returns submitted since the passing of that Act are also published, together with fairly lengthy extracts from the triennial or quinquennial valuation statements submitted since the previous year's issue of these returns. The valuation statements are usually of considerably greater importance than the annual accounts, and as in the majority of cases it will be another five years before the next valuation falls to be made, it has been considered desirable to publish such portions as would for the next few years clearly show the financial position of a company as last ascertained. The impossibility of ascertaining the relation of liabilities to assets from an examination of ordinary accounts and balance sheets is possibly more pronounced in the case of life assurance than any other class of business, and forms consequently an additional reason for the publication of the more interesting portions of the valuation statements.

The returns from the Indian Companies show a marked improvement in many respects. The new sums assured are nearly 35 lakhs in excess of the amount in either of the previous two years, and although the amount is not equal to the pre-war figure it is satisfactory to see such a marked recovery. The total sums assured remaining in force also show a marked increase and now amount to nearly 24 crores of rupees. This is more than one crore in excess of the amount in any previous year. It is interesting to observe the variation in each of the past three years in the ratio to the new sums assured which is borne by the total sums written off from all causes including claims, surrenders, lapses, etc. In 1915, the sums assured written off exceeded the new business. In 1916 they were only slightly less. But last year they did not amount to half of the new sums assured and were nearly 1 crore less than the 1915 amount. Each year since the Act came into force there has been a decrease both in the expense ratio and in the amount of the sums falling due under claims by death. As was to be expected, the rate of interest earned on these Life Funds again shows an increase. Since the outbreak of war the net interest rate has increased from under $4\frac{1}{2}$ to over $4\frac{3}{4}$ per cent. and a further increase may be expected. This is a very important consideration in view of the fact that Indian Companies issue mainly endowment assurances and under that class of policy the principal source of profit is generally surplus interest.

Depreciation.

The amount written off to depreciation or transferred to the Investment Reserve Fund for the purpose of meeting the decreased value of securities has since the outbreak of war been nearly one crore, but notwithstanding this the total amount of the Life Assurance Funds shows an increase each year and is now more than one-third greater than it was five years before.

The Directors of a company need not necessarily be alarmed if, owing to depreciation of securities, the Actuary's valuation report does not permit of a bonus being paid, provided the valuation proves the company to be solvent. The fact that securities stand at a low price has the effect of forming a contingent reserve fund, and a company's financial position will be all the stronger for any prudent action which may be taken now.

Although the decrease in the value of the securities may make it seem prudent in some cases not to pay any bonus or dividend, the effect of the decrease may not be so serious as many may imagine. The income in most cases exceeds the company's outgo and, consequently, there is seldom any question of the securities having to be realised at the present low prices. Moreover, in the case of Indian companies they consist mainly of Indian Government securities; hence no question arises of any decrease in the rate of interest income. At the outbreak of War, $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent Government Promissory Notes were worth about $95\frac{1}{2}$ per cent of the face value and at that price they yielded a return of about $3\frac{3}{4}$ per cent to the purchaser. Recently the price was under 64 or about one-third lower than it was before the War. At this low value the yield has increased to nearly $5\frac{1}{4}$ per cent. This year's War Loan gives a still larger return. Allowing for repayment at a premium ten years hence the return is nearly 5.9% free from income tax. This is about the same as a $6\frac{1}{2}$ % return subject to a one anna income tax. This increased rate of interest is of great importance to Indian companies, and in many cases will go far to counterbalance the decrease in capital values at the time of an actuarial valuation of the company's financial position. With British Companies, however, the case is different, as owing to the very heavy rate of income tax to which they are now subject, any increase in the gross rate of interest return is generally counterbalanced by an increase in the rate of income tax. Notwithstanding this, the financial position of the British Companies was so strong that, after providing for depreciation, they have been able to show good results by valuations based on the same interest rates as formerly. The following table culled from an article in one of the English papers shows the results of all valuations of British Companies announced in 1916 and 1917:—

Basis of valuation.	Number of valuations which resulted in bonus being maintained at former rate.	paid at a reduced rate.	passed altogether.
Unaltered	7	4	21
Weakened	2	3	5

It will be seen that only 10 out of the 42 adopted a weaker basis of valuation. This was done generally by increasing the rate of interest assumed in the valuation. Although 26 of these 42 decided to pay no bonus, many of these valuations disclosed large surpluses but which the companies with their accustomed prudence decided to carry over until more settled times.

War Risk.

Some interesting statistics were recently published by the Prudential Assurance Company of London showing how the war had affected the rate of mortality amongst the male industrial lives assured. In 1917 the rate of mortality at age 20 was nearly 5 per cent which is more than twelve times as great as it was before the war. The rate of mortality decreased for each higher age and reached a minimum at age 44 when it was less than a quarter of the rate at age 20. At ages over 44 the 1917 mortality rates were less than normal and, although increasing from age to age, it was not till about age 65 that the rate equalled the high rate for age 20. At ages under 20, the 1917 rates were less than those for the two previous years, thereby indicating the benefit to health which results from military training. As the data did not relate exclusively to those in the Army, it does not show what extra premium should be charged for war risk.

The majority of the companies transacting life assurance business in India are unwilling to issue policies to combatant officers at the front. Some companies accept the risk on the condition of charging extra premiums, others of reducing the sum payable at death; but whichever method be adopted it seems that if a combatant officer under orders to proceed to the front were to insure now, he would be required to pay each year, in ordinary and extra premium combined, a sum of not less than about 20 per cent of the net amount payable at death. This of course is different from charging an extra of 20 per cent, as, if for instance the insurance be made payable at the end of 20 years or at previous death, the annual extra would be about 15 per cent of the sum assured. For endowment assurances of shorter terms the extra would be less.

Indian Mortality Rates.

The companies should keep a permanent record of every life insurance policy they have issued, in order that, when their mortality experience becomes more mature, they may be in a position to have an investigation made into the rate of mortality they are experiencing. In the meantime, the valuation might suitably be made on the assumption that the mortality likely to be experienced will be that given in the $O^{(s)}$ table with an addition of 7 years to the age of the life. A more accurate approximation to represent the mortality of the better class of Indian lives which are insured in the companies subject to the Life Act would be that the Indian $\mu_{[x]+n} = O^{(m)} \mu_{[x]+n} + .0015$. This approximation is however less easy to apply than that previously mentioned. If there has been no medical examination at the time of insurance the rate of mortality has been found to be very much higher. In such circumstances the rate of mortality might reasonably be assumed to be equal to $H^m q_{x+1} (1 - .0095) - .0095$. This approximation has the advantage of enabling the annuity values based on this heavy rate of mortality to be represented by using the annuity values from the H^m table with an addition of 7 years to the age of the life and at a rate of interest one per cent higher than the valuation rate. This well known method may be demonstrated in the following way. If p_x represent the probability of a life aged x living till age $x+1$, and q_x the probability of his dying in that year, the value of an annuity at 4 per cent would be

$$= \frac{p_x}{1.04} + \frac{p_x \times p_{x+1}}{(1.04)^2} + \frac{p_x \times p_{x+1} \times p_{x+2}}{(1.04)^3} + \text{etc.}$$

$$= \frac{1.05}{1.04} \times \frac{p_x}{1.05} + \frac{1.05}{1.04} \times \frac{p_x}{1.05} \times \frac{1.05}{1.04} \times \frac{p_{x+1}}{1.05} + \text{etc.}$$

$$= \frac{p'_x}{1.05} + \frac{p'_x \times p'_{x+1}}{(1.05)^2} + \text{etc.}$$

= an annuity at 5 % interest at a different rate of mortality represented by the equation $\frac{1.05}{1.04} p_{x+n} = p'_{x+n}$ and \therefore by $p_x = \frac{1.04}{1.05} p'_x$,

\therefore by $1 - p_x = 1 - \frac{1.04}{1.05} p'_x$, \therefore by $q'_x = 1 - \frac{1.04}{1.05} (1 - q'_x) = \frac{1.04}{1.05} q'_x - \frac{1}{1.05}$

$= q'_x (1 - .0095) - .0095$

Fortunately very few Indian companies now issue policies without requiring a medical examination; so the question of the mortality likely to be experienced under them is one of decreasing importance. I am of opinion that in India the mortality varies with the class of policy to a greater extent than is the case in the United Kingdom, being very high under temporary insurances for short periods and low under annuity contracts.

Actuarial Valuations.

Since the issue of the previous Blue Book, valuation particulars have been received from the following nine Indian companies:—

Name of Company.	Head office in	Result of valuation.
Indian Life Karachi	... Divisible surplus.
United India Madras
Empire of India...	... Bombay
B. H. and C. L....	... Bombay	... Surplus carried forward.
Aryva Silchar
National Indian...	... Calcutta
British Indian Lahore	... Deficits mainly covered by paid up capital.
Unique Calcutta
Goan Mutual Bombay	... Deficit removed by reduction of sums assured.

Extracts from the returns made by each of these companies under the Fourth Schedule to the Life Act are published in this issue. The Balance Sheet of each is also published in order that the assets as well as the liabilities may be fully shown.

Up till now 32 of the Indian companies have submitted the results of actuarial valuations of their assets and liabilities. Exactly one half of these valuations disclosed a surplus. In 10 of the remaining sixteen, the deficit was covered by the paid-up capital, thus proving solvency but precluding the payment of either bonus or dividend. In five cases solvency was restored by reduction of sums assured or by calling up further capital. In one case the degree of insolvency necessitated the winding up of the concern. Many of the other companies which went into liquidation without an actuarial valuation being made, adopted this course as the unsoundness of their financial position could be clearly demonstrated without it.

Mutual Companies.

With two exceptions, all the Indian companies shown as established within the last 24 years are proprietary companies with a share capital; but of the older companies, the great majority are mutual companies. These mutual companies generally have very small funds and it is found that payment of the full deposit prescribed in section 4 of the Life Act sometimes presses unduly on their resources, and as payment of the full deposit also interferes with the formation of new mutual companies, Government will be prepared to consider any application from an Indian mutual company for permission to pay a smaller deposit. Another privilege which Government have decided to extend to mutual companies is with regard to the audit of their accounts. While life assurance companies having a share capital may employ as an auditor only the holder of an unrestricted certificate or the member of one of the six exempted societies of accountants, mutual life assurance companies may, alternatively, employ the holder of a restricted certificate. One or two of the existing Life Offices are called Mutual Companies even although they have share capital; such nomenclature should be avoided in the case of companies established hereafter, as there is generally a recognised technical meaning attached to the use of the word "Mutual" in connection with life assurance, in consequence of which its use by a company having a share capital is likely to be misleading.

Provident Funds.

Although some of the Indian Life Assurance companies which formerly issued policies may deservedly have bad records, it must be remembered that a great deal of discredit has been brought on the better class of such companies owing to a large number of the unsound Provident Societies having names which suggested that they were ordinary Life Assurance companies. This confusion is certain to decrease, as it is probable that some of the existing Provident societies which call themselves Life Assurance Companies will disappear. Moreover, the rules under the Provident Insurance Societies Act which have been adopted by nearly all the local Governments provide that no new Society subject to that Act may be started with a name in which the words "life insurance" or "life assurance" occur. About twelve years ago there were about 1,200 Provident Insurance societies in existence in India. Now about 45 remain. The unsound ones were very similar to the dividing societies whose methods I have dealt with in previous issues of these returns. The essential difference between a Life Assurance Company and a Provident Insurance Society is that the company is subject to the Life Act and not to the Provident Act, if under insurances payable at the death or survival of any one life, it undertakes either to pay sums which in the aggregate exceed Rs. 500 or receive premiums which in the aggregate exceed Rs. 25 in any one year where the period for which the premiums are payable is unlimited, or Rs. 250 altogether where such period is limited. If, as may happen in the case of a dividing society, the sum assured is not fixed but may in certain contingencies exceed Rs. 500, the society is subject to the Life Act.

New Companies.

The Mysore Government Security Life and Marriage Assurance Company, Mysore, has become subject to the provisions of the Life Act. This Company's head office is in the Native State of Mysore. The Mysore Government is however in no way concerned with the Company and by a Notification dated the 23rd December 1914, published in the Mysore Gazette, it announced that the use of the words "Mysore Government" in the name of the company did not mean that the Mysore Government authorised its formation or in any way supervised its business.

This Mysore company for about a year past has endeavoured to transact insurance business of the Dividing Society type in British India. By keeping its life assurance contracts within the limits prescribed for Provident Societies, it first of all escaped compliance with the Life Act and by only having canvassers working in British India and so restricting their powers it endeavoured to escape compliance with the provisions of the Provident Insurance Societies Act. On being informed that this could not be done it has decided to issue policies which make it subject to the Life Act.

Only one other company, viz., the Indian Allied Life Insurance Company, Limited, which has recently been established at Allahabad, has become subject to the Life Act during the year. This issue however contains no particulars of either of the above mentioned companies.

Agents.

The greatest possible care should be taken by the less experienced companies in selecting as agents only those of whose integrity they have no doubt, as thereby they would lessen the risk of policyholders being defrauded. Possibly more care would be exercised in this matter if companies realised that they were greatly responsible for the action of their agents. The following extract from a recent article in one of the English Insurance papers will possibly indicate the extent to which the company may be responsible :—

"The contract of insurance is in most cases made through the intervention of agents whose acts bind their principals in the same way as other business transactions. All incorporated companies must necessarily act through agents, and their officers are specially appointed and clothed with powers more or less specific to facilitate the transaction of business. To these in cases of emergency are added special or general agents who at home and abroad exercise very extensive powers. What is the fair scope of the authority of these agents, now so numerous, to whom are entrusted the duties partly or wholly of soliciting risks, receiving and forwarding applications, being supplied with blanks for the purpose, receiving premiums and deposit notes and delivering policies? This question has given rise to some of the most perplexing difficulties, and to a larger proportion, perhaps, than any other of the controversies in Courts of Law. An agent acting within the general scope of his authority binds his principal, notwithstanding that he may have departed from his instructions, provided the party with whom he contracts had no knowledge of those instructions. And even in cases where the contract might be avoided in consequence of the agent departing from his instructions, a subsequent ratification by his principal, even after a loss, makes it binding. As a corporation can act only through agents, it is responsible for the acts and contracts of such agents within the scope of their authority. The declaration, too, of its agents acting within the scope of their authority is evidence against the company. If these agents, in the line of their employment, are guilty of falsehood and fraud, their principal is liable for the consequences which may flow therefrom. If they commit a fraud in the course of their employment and while acting in the business of their principal, the parties injured by their misconduct or fraud can resort for redress to the persons who clothed them with power to act on their behalf, and who have received the benefits resulting from their agency."

Liquidation.

Since the passing of the Life Act the following eighteen Indian Life Assurance Companies have gone into liquidation. This was rendered necessary in the majority of the cases by financial difficulties brought about by insurance business having been transacted on the dividing society principle. Under this system the sum assured is not fixed but depends each year on a division of a portion of the premium income amongst the policies which have become claims; usually the premium is the same for all ages at entry and there is no medical examination.

The Universal Assurance Company, Ltd. of Calcutta, which at my suggestion has not issued any policies since June 1916, states that it is taking steps to go into liquidation; but its account books which have had to be produced in connection with a criminal action against Jogesh Chandra Sarker, Secretary, and Shayama Charan Sarker, Director of the Company, have not yet been received back from the Court.

Dividing Insurance business.

The following existing companies have ceased to issue policies on the dividing principle:—

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1. India Equitable | } which issued policies payable at Death and on Marriage. |
| 2. Popular | |
| 3. Universal | |
| 4. Bengal Mercantile. | |
| 5. Aryya, which issued policies payable at Death, on Marriage and at Upanayan ceremony. | |
| 6. Unique, which issued policies payable at Death, on Marriage, at Birth and at Upanayan ceremony. | |

Many of the above mentioned companies must regret that they ever undertook such business. Notwithstanding the protestations contained in the prospectuses of the companies as to the soundness and advantage of the various schemes of dividing insurance, it has, I consider, been the curse of insurance enterprise in India. I trust that the well wishers of Indian insurance companies will impress on Directors the necessity of avoiding all forms of dividing society business and other forms of insurance not based on actuarial principles. The following three* Life Assurance companies are the only ones which now issue policies on the dividing principle:—

1. All India and Burma Provident Fund of Bangalore.
2. Hindustan Assurance and Mutual Benefit Society of Gujranwala.
3. Sind Hindu Provident Funds Society of Hyderabad, Sind.

In every case where any of these nine companies has guaranteed a minimum benefit in respect of each policy, that minimum amount is all that is now being paid. Although this is very much less than many policyholders were originally led to expect, it is more than some of the companies can now afford to pay. Companies transacting life insurance on the dividing principle must realise that it entails more than a liability for the period ordinarily covered by the premiums paid and that it is imperative to build up a reserve on actuarial principles to ensure payment of the benefit guaranteed at death or on survivorship. In the early years the premium should be more than sufficient to meet the risk run by the Company after meeting current expenses; in the later years, however, the risk increases as the life assured becomes older and ultimately exceeds the amount of the premium. Unless therefore a reserve has been formed in the early years, the company will get into financial difficulties.

Of the Indian companies now working, 7 were established over 42 years ago. This is shown in the following list where the names of the existing Indian life assurance companies have been arranged according to their respective dates of establishment as also with reference to the Province in which the Head Office of each is now situated.

Business other than Life Assurance.

Since the Life Act was passed in 1912, there has been a considerable reduction in the number of Indian companies transacting other classes of business in addition to life assurance, the number having decreased from twenty-one to the nine noted below :—

Statistical information.

For the convenience of those not conversant with the Indian monetary system, it may be pointed out that, on the basis of a gold mohur being equal to a pound, the sterling equivalents of various sums in Indian currency are as follows :—

	1 Pie	= Rs. 0.0052 = $\frac{1}{19}$ of a penny = £0.00035.
3 Pies	= 1 Paisa	= Rs. 0.0156 = 1 farthing = £0.00104.
12 Pies	= 1 Anna	= Rs. 0.0625 = 1 penny = £0.00417.
16 Annas	= 1 Rupee	= 1 shilling and 4 pence.
15 Rupees	= 1 Gold Mohur	= £ 1
	1 Gold Mohur and 12 annas	= £1.1-0 = 1 Guinea
1,00,000 Rupees	= 1 Lakh	= £ 6,666-13-4.
1,00,00,000 Rupees	= 1 Crore	= £ 666,666-13-4.
1,50,00,000 Rupees	= 1½ crores	= 1 million pounds sterling = £ 1,000,000.

The new sums assured by Indian companies under ordinary life assurance policies during the year under review show a considerable increase, the total amount being nearly 2½ crores as against one crore and ninety lakhs in each of the two previous years.

Whole Life policies	were issued last year for	17½ lakhs,	or	7.8	of the total.
Limited Payment policies	„	„	„	19	„
Endowment Assurance policies	„	„	„	172	„
Children's Endowments	„	„	„	6	„
Other classes of policies	„	„	„	9½	„
Total				224 lakhs.	100

The total sums assured, including bonus additions, under ordinary life assurance policies issued by Indian companies, have increased by over 5 per cent during the year and amount to over 24 crores of rupees, or about 15 million pounds sterling.

Neither the total sums assured remaining in force nor the total amount for which policies are issued each year in India by all companies can be stated, as unfortunately particulars of this nature are not required to be submitted by the British companies and by some of the other companies which transact business both in the United Kingdom and in India.

The average rate of annual premium payable under the policies issued by Indian companies exceeds 5½ per cent of the sum assured. This is slightly higher than the rate in either of the previous two years. The corresponding rate deduced from the returns to the British Board of Trade is about 1 per cent lower. This difference between these two rates is largely due to the fact that endowment assurances constitute nearly twice as large a proportion of the policies issued by Indian as by British companies.

In previous years the classification was based according to the calendar year in which the accounts were due for submission to Government. Now it is based according to the calendar year to which the accounts relate.

The average amount of sum assured under the policies issued by the more soundly established Indian Companies is only about Rs. 1,800 or £120. In the United Kingdom the average sum assured under ordinary policies is nearly twice as large. Under most of the Indian companies' policies, the premiums are payable by monthly instalments. In the United Kingdom a much larger proportion of the premiums are renewable yearly and half yearly than monthly.

The Life Assurance revenue accounts for 1917 of the Indian companies show that—110 lakhs' or 76.6% of the total income was derived from Life Assurance premiums.

21.6 " 1914

21'1 " 1915

20'2 " 1917

These rates as well as those in the previous table would have exhibited a more marked improvement each year, if the figures relating to companies which have gone into liquidation in the meantime had not been entirely omitted.

In the United Kingdom the ratio of expenses to life assurance premium income is 13 per cent for ordinary business and 43 per cent for Industrial business.

The satisfactory manner in which the amounts both of the Life Assurance Funds and of the interest realized thereon have increased may be seen from the following table :—

Year.	Life Fund.	Net interest income.	Rate per cent of interest realised.
	Lakhs.	Lakhs.
1913	583	23½	4.29
1914	636	25	4.21
1915	677	27½	4.29
1916	686	29½	4.43
1917	720	33	4.78

The total assets of the Indian companies consist mainly of Indian Government securities which at their face value amounted to the large sum of 5½ crores. The only other stock exchange securities consisted of nearly 1½ crores of Municipal and Port Trust Debentures and only 19 lakhs in Railway and other shares. At the time of the periodical actuarial valuation, the Life Act requires not only a statement of how the values of stock exchange securities are arrived at, but also a certificate to the effect that the assets set forth in the Balance sheet are in the aggregate fully of the value stated therein less any Investment Reserve Fund taken into account. In arriving at this value Government advise that the stock exchange securities shall not be given a rate in excess of the market value at the close of the valuation period. Applying the Investment Reserve Funds to meet the depreciations of these securities they are shown in the accounts at a value of 614 lakhs. On this basis the total assets would be as follows :—

Indian Government securities, Indian Municipal and Port Trusts Debentures, and other Indian stock exchange securities	...	614	lakhs.
Mortgages on property in India	...	30	"
Loans on Companies' policies within their surrender values	...	68	"
Loans on personal security, etc.	...	2	"

Deposits, Cash, Stamps, etc.	...	24	"
Stationery, Furniture, etc.	...	2	"
Sundry Debtors and other Miscellaneous assets	...	2	"
		817	lakhs.

Capital outlay for preliminary and organisation expenses, etc., is not included in the above statement; it amounted to 15 lakhs, due mainly to the capital expenditure of the Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society.

British, Colonial and Foreign Companies.

There are at present 24 British, Colonial and Foreign Life Offices which have a place of business in India. Of these, 17 are constituted in Britain, 2 in Canada, 1 in Australia, 1 in the Straits Settlements, 2 in Shanghai and 1 in the United States of America. Nearly all are partially exempt from the operation of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act of 1912, on the ground that, when it came into force, they were carrying on business in the United Kingdom in conformity with the provisions of the British Assurance Companies Act of 1909.

The classes of business, in addition to ordinary life assurance, transacted by these 24 companies are shown in the following statement :—

The principal effects of the exemptions allowed to these British, Colonial and Foreign companies are that they are freed from the necessity either of making a deposit with the Controller of Currency or of stating the amount of business they do in India. Those granted exemptions are allowed to submit their accounts in the form required by the British Assurance Companies Act of 1909. That Act is very similar to the Indian one.

Accounts and Valuation Statements of Non-Indian Companies

A summary of the Revenue Accounts of each of the non-Indian companies for each of the past three years, so far as available, has been given in this publication. Since the issue of the last Blue Book no companies have published their quinquennial or triennial valuation returns except the Great Eastern Life Assurance Company of Singapore. This issue contains a summary of and abstracts from the valuation returns of that company together with its full balance sheet, along with a summary of the valuation returns previously received from the 23 other non-India companies.

The China Mutual, Manufacturers, New York, Shanghai and Sun of Canada have their valuations made annually, and as their previous returns were fully printed in the earlier editions of this publication, the returns received in the year under review have been omitted, except to the extent of the particulars shown in the general summary of the valuations of Non-Indian companies.

Exemptions.

During the year under review, complete exemption from the operation of the Act was not granted to any company.

Scottish Metropolitan Assurance Company, Edinburgh.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE ASSAM LABOUR BOARD
DURING THE YEAR ENDING THE 30TH JUNE 1918.

(EMIGRATION).

Delhi, the 18th November 1918.

The following paper is published in accordance with Rule 29 of the Assam Labour Board Rules :—

Annual Report on the working of the Assam Labour Board during the year ending the 30th June 1918.

I.—ADMINISTRATIVE.

1. MR. R. W. DAVIES, I.C.S., Madras, continued to act as Chairman till the 10th September 1917, when he was relieved by Lieutenant-Colonel W. M. Kennedy, C.I.E., I.A., the permanent incumbent, on the termination of the latter's deputation to England. The triennial period for which the elected members were appointed having expired on the 13th April 1918 a general election was held, which was followed by a fresh election of members to serve on the Executive Committee for the ensuing three years. The changes in the elected personnel of the Board and of the Executive Committee are given in detail in appendix A.

2. With effect from the 20th November 1917 Lieutenant-Colonel Kennedy was appointed Tea Commissioner for India in addition to his duties as Chairman. Chairman appointed Tea Commissioner for India. In view of the fact that the Food Controller's scheme for the purchase in India of tea for the United Kingdom occupies the greater portion of Lieutenant-Colonel Kennedy's time and greatly restricts his touring as Chairman, the Government of India have ruled that half his salary as Chairman of the Board should be chargeable to the Food Controller, and that the Government of India and the Board should contribute the remaining half in equal shares.

3. Owing to a technical accounts objection to refunds of cess being made by the Board, a new rule, number 24-A, was prescribed under Section 116F (d), Alterations in the Act and Rules, Act VI of 1901, regulating the purposes to which the cess may be applied. The rule, which was published under notification No 990, dated the 6th April 1918, of the Government of India, in the Department of Commerce and Industry, authorises the application of the cess to the payment of—

- (a) Such portion of the salary and allowances of the Chairman as the Governor-General in Council may direct;
- (b) Allowances to members of the Board to meet their expenses in attending meetings of the Board, or on other journeys performed on the business of the Board;
- (c) The salary and allowances of the supervisors and other establishment appointed by the Board, including any leave allowances, pensions and contributions towards a Provident Fund sanctioned by the Board, and including also such contributions towards the leave allowances and pensions of officers whose services have been lent by Government, as the Governor-General in Council may direct;
- (d) Contingent and other incidental expenses, including tour charges, connected with the maintenance of the Board's office and of the offices of the officers appointed by them;
- (e) Rewards for the detection or prosecution of offences under the Act;

(f) Refunds of the cess realised in respect of:—

(i) Garden-sardars and emigrants on whom it has been erroneously realised;

(ii) Emigrants whose services as labourers have, in the opinion of the Board, for any reason not become available or fully available to employers;

(g) Interest which may fall due on any loan contracted by the Board or on any overdraft of the Board's account with the Bank of Bengal sanctioned by the Board;

(h) Such other charges as the Board may, with the general or special sanction of the Government of India, direct.

4 The two statutory meetings of the Board were held respectively on the 11th October 1917 and the 7th March 1918, and were attended by all the members

Meetings of the Board

except the following who were unavoidably absent:—

September Meeting—Messrs C. Wood and N. M. Ross.

March Meeting—Messrs. H. W. Carr, E. H. Hannay, the Hon'ble Sir E. H. Bray, and the Hon'ble Lieutenant-Colonel W. Mason.

5. After each of the meetings of the Board a meeting of the Executive Committee was held, both being attended by all the members

Meetings of the Executive Committee

6. The Chairman was on tour for 33 days, and the acting Chairman for 45 days. Details of the places visited will be found in appendix B. Owing to his duties as Tea Commissioner, the Chairman's touring had to be greatly restricted. With the exception of two hurried visits to Madras in connection with the tea purchase scheme he was unable, because of press of work, to leave Calcutta from November 1917 to the end of April 1918

Supervisors.

7. The following table shows the touring and inspection work of Mr. C. E.

Middleton Stewart, supervisor:—

As explained in last year's report, Mr. Stewart is now single-handed and he had to carry out, in addition to his own duties, those of the two supervisors whose services were lent to Government for employment with war Labour Corps. Mr. Stewart was most active in his inspection work, as also in investigating reports of illegal or irregular recruitment and did much useful work in removing local difficulties in the recruiting districts. Towards the close of the year, however, owing to the further combing out of the Government services in order to supply recruits for the Indian Army Reserve of Officers, the Inspector-General of Police, Central Provinces, informed the Board that he is unable to spare Mr. Stewart's services to the Board any longer. Latter has, accordingly, applied for a commission in the Indian Army Reserve of Officers, which, it is expected, will shortly be granted.

As a temporary measure, for the period of the war, the Board have since the close of the year under review sanctioned the appointment of Mr. P. D. Kirkham to act as supervisor vice Mr. Stewart. Mr. Kirkham retired last year from the Government service as Superintendent of Police, Central Provinces, and has since been working under the Tea Districts Labour Supply Association as local agent at Bilaspur.

Difficulties having been experienced by supervisors owing to their not being empowered to record evidence in cases of illegal recruitment under investigation by them, or to order the arrest of persons actually engaged in their presence in the offence of illegal recruitment, the Board enquired of local Governments whether there would be any objection to the investiture of Mr. Middleton Stewart with powers of a magistrate of the third class for purposes of the investigation but not of the trial of cases under section 164, Act VI of 1901. Except the Chief Commissioner of Assam, who for technical reasons was unable to accept the Board's recommendations, all the local Governments concerned agreed, as an experimental measure for one year, to accede to the request of the Board, and have vested Mr. Stewart with powers of a magistrate of the third class for purposes of the investigation but not the trial of cases of illegal recruitment. It is too soon yet to estimate the practical effect of this concession.

8. Since it seemed desirable that the supervisor should, as an experimental measure, be allowed a reliable assistant in order to help in the investigation of cases of illegal recruitment, which often require a good deal of detailed work, including prolonged watching for the despatch of illegally-recruited gangs of coolies and the following up of such gangs from the recruiting district to the tea estate, the Board decided to enquire from local Governments whether they would have any objection to the appointment of a reliable inspector or sub-inspector of police to work under Mr. Stewart. All the local Governments concerned agreed to the appointment being made except the Government of Madras who were inclined to the opinion that the appointment is not necessary in that province in view of the absence of reports of cases of abuses in recruitment. The Board, accordingly, decided to obtain a suitable officer to work under Mr. Stewart in all the provinces concerned except Madras, and an inspector of police, whose services have kindly been lent to the Board by the Government of Bihar and Orissa, was towards the close of the year appointed to the post on a salary equivalent to that which he received from Government, plus a deputation allowance of Rs. 50 a month, the Board paying in addition the usual contribution towards his leave and retiring allowances. The inspector makes detailed investigations under the orders of Mr. Stewart and patrols the transit routes. A better idea will be gained of the utility of the appointment after a year's experience.

II.—SUPERVISION OF LOCAL AGENTS.

9. Fifty-nine applications for the grant or renewal of licenses as local agents were received, all of which the Board recommended to be granted. No applications were pending at the close of the year. Superintendents of Emigration in all cases accepted the Board's recommendations.

Of the 59 persons who held licenses as local agents at the close of the year, 53 were employes of the Tea Districts Labour Supply Association, the remainder being appointed by individual estates or firms or combinations thereof.

10. On the 1st July 1917 there were altogether 35 local agencies at work, distributed as follows:—

Bengal two, Madras five, Bihar and Orissa eighteen, United Provinces six, Central Provinces four. Of these thirty were under the Tea Districts Labour Supply Association and five under individual firms or estates.

In the course of the year the Makum and Namdang Tea Companies closed their local agency at Ranchi, but later on the Namdang Tea Company opened a new agency there under Mr. Halford, who was till recently local agent at Dumka for the estates represented by Messrs. Williamson Magor and Company, Messrs. Balmer Lawrie and Company, and Messrs. Barry and Company. These firms closed down their separate local agency at Dumka in the month of December 1917.

The Scandinavian Home Mission to the Santals opened a local agency at Dumka, in charge of the Reverend Boe Bojeson Bogh, M.B., in the interests of the mission's tea estate at Ding Dinga in the Goalpara district.

The Tea Districts Labour Supply Association closed their local agency at Baidyanath in the Santal Parganas, as the results did not justify its maintenance. In Madras they transferred the Bezwada local agency to Rajahmundry in the district of Godavery. Bezwada is a large railway junction. No bona fide local coolies are available there, those picked up by the garden-sardars being of the waif and stray type. It was, moreover, difficult for the local agent effectively to control the garden-sardars in a place of this description. The local agency at Parvatipur in the Vizagapatam district was, also, at the desire of the District Magistrate, transferred from that place to Waltair, the headquarters of the district. The most convenient location for the local agency in that district would probably be Vizianagram. Two special local agencies to supervise recruitment in the Ganjam and Vizagapatam Agency tracts were opened, but have since been amalgamated with the local agencies at Berhampore and Vizagapatam.

Mr. White, local agent of the Salolah Tea Company, Limited, at Cuttack, died towards the end of the year, and the agency has remained closed up to the present.

The above changes left thirty-two local agencies at work at the close of the year.

11. The work of the different local agencies was carried on generally to the satisfaction of the Board. One local agent, of whose methods of working the Board did not approve, resigned his license.

12. Owing to the war and causes connected therewith, there has been a great drain on the European staff of the Tea Districts Labour Supply Association. A number of their agents have joined the army; Mr. H. A. Pickford, one of the oldest and most respected of the local agents, died when on sick leave and several others have been incapacitated owing to illness. It is practically impossible to secure suitable men to fill the vacancies. The shortage of men has greatly handicapped the Association in their work during the past year. The decrease in recruitment, also, has hit the Association hard financially. As mentioned in paragraph 10 of last year's report, negotiations are in progress with the object of re-organising the constitution of the Association and of broadening the basis of membership, and the general principles on which it is proposed that the scheme should be worked have been formulated. The detailed scheme, however, has not as yet been prepared.

13. As it not infrequently happens that acting local agents have to be appointed for a month or so in temporary emergencies, due to the illness of the permanent incumbent or other urgent causes, it has been arranged with local Governments that Superintendents of Emigration should issue temporary licenses in such cases, informing the Board of the action taken, since if the applications were to be submitted through the Board much delay would be occasioned.

III.—RECRUITMENT.

14. In paragraph 12 of last year's report it was mentioned that the prospects of recruitment for the year 1917-18 were not bright. This forecast has unfortunately proved to be correct. The cess returns (including those for June 1918, which for financial purposes appertain to the succeeding year) show that 13,452 garden-sardars obtained 12,849 labouring recruits from the 1st July 1917 to the 30th June 1918, the figures for the previous year being 28,317 garden-sardars and 33,759 labouring recruits respectively. Taking the figures of the Tea Districts Labour Supply Association, under whose supervision almost the whole of the recruitment for Assam is carried out, these show that, including garden-sardars still in the recruiting districts at the beginning of the year 1917-18, there were altogether 15,384 at work as against 29,524 in the year 1916-17, and that in the past year 13,970 adults or 17,735 souls were recruited, the figures for the previous season being 26,828 adults and 36,315 souls respectively. It may be explained that the Association's year begins on the 1st September and that their system of classifying adults for the purpose of the levy of their fees is different from that on which the cess is assessed. The reduction was shared by all the recruiting areas. Results were best in Ranchi and the United Provinces. Except in the latter area the number of recruits per garden-sardar fell short of the 1916-17 standard, which itself was lower than that of the previous year. The causes for the less satisfactory results were various, one of the chief being that agricultural conditions were good, so the poorer people were not obliged to emigrate under stress of want. In this connection it is interesting to note that the Chairman and supervisor, in the course of their inspections of local agencies, have drawn attention to the large proportion of the recruits which were related to the garden-sardars, a fact which indicates that the latter had not much success outside of their immediate clientèle. Had there been famine or scarcity in any area their operations would have been more widespread. An explanation of the shortage of recruits, which is almost universally put forward by local agents and which is undoubtedly correct, is that garden-sardars were deputed in fewer numbers and too late in the season. As explained in the report for 1916-17, this was due to the uncertainty of the outlook for tea during the opening months of the season. The Food Controller's tea purchase scheme, however, had a most re-assuring effect, and from January onwards garden-sardars were sent down in increasing numbers, with the result that there was a marked recovery in the numbers of labourers and dependants engaged. The greater demand for recruits for war purposes, both combatant and especially non-combatant, also affected results. Speaking generally the good pay offered for military service, the temporary nature of the employment and the prestige which attaches to service under Government are attractive to the emigrant coolie. In some directions, also, recruitment for Assam was directly restricted owing to the needs of the war. In the Ganjam Agency Tract the engagement of labourers and dependants was stopped altogether for three months, in order not to interfere with recruitment for the local Labour Corps. In Saran the emigration of males of the sweeper caste was temporarily forbidden, as efforts were being made to obtain them for Mesopotamia. The embargo was, however, eventually removed since the attempt to induce these people to enlist in a sweeper's corps failed. More serious has been the complete stoppage of the recruitment of Nepalese in the Gorakhpur district for the coal mines of the Assam Railways and Trading Company at Margherita, which used to draw from this area a considerable supply of short-term labour consisting of immigrant Nepalese. Under previous arrangements recruits used to be produced before the local military Recruiting Staff Officer, who selected those suitable for army purposes, the remainder being allowed to proceed to Assam. But at the instance of the Nepal Durbar, who wish to conserve their man-power for purely military purposes, the Government of the United Provinces requested that the recruitment of Nepalese should be discontinued, and this has been done. The Board and the tea industry recognise that recruitment for war purposes has the paramount claim, and are always ready to assist in the promotion of all reasonable measures which Government may consider to be necessary in order to secure recruits for the army or subsidiary war services in the field. All that is asked is that measures should not be adopted which would injure recruitment for Assam, without conferring a corresponding benefit on recruitment for war purposes. Apart from the demands of the Army Department, the growth of local industries in the recruiting districts as the result of the war constitutes an additional drain on the available supply of labour. Chota Nagpur and the Feudatory States of Bihar and Orissa are the main recruiting grounds for Assam. In this area there is the promise of great industrial development. Large industries, such as the Tata Iron and Steel Works at Sakchi, already employ great numbers of unskilled labourers at high rates of pay. In the Tata Works alone it is stated that 10,000 coolies are employed, and the Board understand that many new applications are being made for mining and other concessions. There are also numerous small industrial concerns which employ unskilled labour. These sources of employment, paying good wages and close to the homes of the coolies, cannot but prove a powerful counter-attraction to comparatively distant Assam, and contribute to some extent to the ill-success of the garden-sardar. At Chaibassa, for the last two or three years, several estates secured a connection by employing short-term labour, which was going forward fairly freely. This short term emigration has now, however, unfortunately ceased, but the Board hope that the cessation is temporary only, and that it will be possible before long to revive this type of emigration, which provides a useful means by which gardens, and especially new gardens, can establish a recruiting connection. The Tea Districts Labour Supply Association have arranged that their local agents should send reminders to managers a few weeks before short-term coolies are due to return to their home districts, since it is absolutely essential for the success of the short-term system that managers should insist upon coolies, whose period on the garden has expired, returning to their homes, whether they wish to remain or not. This is necessary in order to give confidence and to show the village people that promises are kept. Such emigrants can after a short stay in their villages be returned to the garden to settle there permanently if they wish to do so. Managers who omit to insist upon the return of short-term labour not only damage their own recruiting, but injure that also of all other estates wishing to employ this class of labour.

15. The acting Chairman, after personal consultation with the Agents to the Governor in Vizagapatam and Godavery, addressed these officers in connection with the extension of recruiting facilities in the Agency Tracts of those districts. In the case of the Vizagapatam Tract the Agent was unable to support the proposals, except as regards the ex-patriation of the families of coolies now in Assam, and he thought that the castes, the recruitment of which in the open area is now permitted, should still further be restricted. The Government of Madras, however, decided to leave matters as they are in the latter respect, but accepted the recommendation of the Agent and acting Chairman as regards the ex-patriation of the families of coolies from the Vizagapatam Tract now in Assam, namely, that a coolie wishing to take his family from the closed area to Assam should be sent down to the local agent, who would then be in a better position to ascertain their whereabouts by personal enquiry from the coolie than the taluk officer, who, under the existing orders, has only the lists, generally erroneous, supplied by the tea garden manager to guide him.

From the portion of the Ganjam Agency Tract recently thrown open some 103 souls were recruited by 153 garden-sardars last season. Only 20 souls were obtained by 16 garden-sardars this season, but, as explained above, recruitment was stopped altogether for three months. On the whole, the results are encouraging and give grounds for the hope that an extension of the area of recruitment would yield a welcome addition to the Assam labour force, as the people are reported to be poor and ready enough to emigrate in order to better themselves. From the experience gained, however, the Board have come to the conclusion that the opening to recruitment of small areas, hedged round with restrictions, while adjacent areas remain closed, leads to much confusion, considerable expenditure and small results. It is exceedingly difficult for managers in Assam and even for the local agent to be certain what villages are within the opened area, as the definition of boundaries is inevitably vague, and this applies with greater force to the garden-sardars themselves, who are apt to stray beyond the prescribed boundaries, thereby tending to the creation of cases of misdescription and illegal recruitment with the active connivance of the recruits themselves, who are anxious to emigrate. Much unnecessary trouble, also, is caused to the local officers of Government dealing with emigration who have to decide whether intending emigrants come from the open or closed area. The Board, therefore, are of opinion that, in the interests of all concerned, it is desirable that, if any extensions of the recruiting area are granted in the future, they should comprise either whole Tracts or a substantial proportion thereof, and that special restrictions should be reduced to a minimum; in fact they think that recruitment should be carried on under ordinary conditions or not at all. Since the close of the year the Chairman has had the advantage of discussing this difficult question with the Government of Madras and with the Agent to the Governor in Ganjam, and the Board hope to be in a position before long to submit proposals as regards the Ganjam Tract, which will, at any rate, ameliorate the difficulties now being experienced in that area.

The rules for the regularisation of recruitment in the Feudatory States of Bihar and Orissa are still under the consideration of the Government of that Province. Their promulgation is expected shortly.

Speaking generally, the present is not a favourable time for pressing for extended facilities for recruitment or for the opening of new local agencies, in view of the strenuous attempts of Government to obtain recruits for the combatant and non-combatant war services.

16. This question, as mentioned in paragraph 14 of the report of last year, has been under the consideration of the Indian Tea Association with a view to the limitation of advances and bonuses paid to garden-sardars. Owing to the disturbed and unusual conditions which are concomitants of the war, the Association have decided that the time is not opportune for arriving at a definite decision as to the limitations to be imposed. Further consideration of the matter has, therefore, been postponed until normal conditions shall be restored. As a result of the inspections of the Board's officers, however, the Board are satisfied that the advances made to garden-sardars are generally moderate and are insufficient to enable them to lay out money in the purchase of coolies, at any rate to any appreciable extent. The practice of paying per capita bonuses through local agents has been stopped, and the utmost vigilance is exercised in order to insure that garden-sardars are not financed direct by the estates. In one respect it has been unfortunately necessary to increase expenditure since the Tea Districts Labour Supply Association, owing to the falling off in recruitment, have been obliged to raise their fees to Rs. 20 per adult, the income of the Association being derived from fees charged on the persons recruited. But the enhancement of the fees is, it is hoped, temporary, and the situation would be eased were all estates to pay more attention to recruitment and to depute garden-sardars earlier in the season and in larger numbers. The payment of a bonus to the immigrant to be taken with him or left with his family has been suggested as a stimulus to recruiting. It is understood that such bonuses have been paid to recruits for Labour Corps and in Ranchi small payments of this description have to be made to intending emigrants, as it is the local custom, the practice being somewhat similar to that obtaining at hiring fairs in Ireland. No one objects to the coolie being granted a bonus, provided that it can be insured that he actually receives it and that it is not filched away from him or his family and applied to improper purposes, and provided, also, that the practice does not tend to bring into existence the professional emigrant who accepts the bonus and turns "unwilling" when in transit, knowing well that it is practically impossible to recover the bonus from him or to secure his conviction in a court of law for cheating.

17. Notwithstanding the activity in recruitment for war purposes, the prospects for the ensuing season in many of the recruiting areas are distinctly good, so far as can be judged at present. In a number of districts the rainfall has been deficient, and an early cessation of the rains seems to be probable. These conditions may result in a partial failure of the crops in portions of the recruiting districts. Garden managers may, therefore, depute garden-sardars freely in the reasonable hope that results will be substantially better than those of last year. There is, however, no reason to apprehend that the results should be worse than in the past season, and, indeed, if concerns send down their garden-sardars in good time, there is every reason to believe that last year's figures will be improved upon. But looking beyond the immediate future, there are indications that it will be necessary for the tea industry to take stock of its position if it is to hold its own in the face of other competing interests. Allusion has already been made to the ever-growing industrial activity in the areas from which Assam draws its labour, which is providing increased employment on liberal rates of pay, close to the home of the emigrant coolie. In view of these developments it will probably be necessary for the tea industry in the near future to consider whether additional inducements in the matter of pay should not be offered. It is true that the outdoor employment on tea estates, the easy conditions as regards leave, etc., the provision of rice fields and the good prospects of eventual settlement on Government land as peasant proprietors tend to attract coolies to and to keep them in Assam. It is true, also, that actual pecuniary inducements have in many cases at present little or no influence on the coolie's decision to emigrate. Many of them pay little regard to the terms offered and leave their homes either to join their relatives in Assam or simply because they wish to get away for one reason or another. Nevertheless, with the growth of local industries, attended by a rise in the local rate of wages and extended local employment, it is reasonable to suppose that the coolie will, in time, be more and more influenced by financial considerations, and will learn to weigh the relative advantages of employment nearer his home, which will not entail the break up of his household, and emigration to Assam. It is unfortunate that under the Assam system wages are presented to the would-be emigrant in the most unfavourable light. What may be described as the standard wage is admittedly low, and it is difficult to explain to the coolies that this can be earned by a few hours' work, and that the diligent coolie can, if he wishes, earn additional wages which compare favourably with those paid by other industries. Even without raising the standard wage the Board think that an improvement would be effected if each estate were to furnish its garden-sardars with a statement in the vernacular of the recruiting district setting forth the advantages which it has to offer, not only in the matter of regular wages, ticca, and bonuses but also as regards housing, medical attendance, leave, sick and pregnant allowances, fuel, the supply of rice at reduced rates when prices are high, the provision of garden plots and rice lands, and facilities for the formation of hamlets of coolies of the same caste. This has often been recommended and the Assam Labour Enquiry Committee laid considerable stress on the advantages of advertisement in paragraph 65 of their report. The suggestion has not, however, been acted upon up to the present, at least to any great extent. The Board have thought it right to put forward the above considerations, in the hope that the tea industry will give the matter thought with a view to timely measures being taken to meet difficulties in recruitment which may arise in the future. With wages and the cost of living rising on all sides the tea industry can scarcely afford to stand still much longer.

IV.—ILLEGAL RECRUITMENT.

18. It is with much pleasure that the Board have to record a great improvement under this head. Only one important case of attempted illegal recruitment was brought to light. It concerned one Banerji, who, with the assistance of one Chakrabarty, a Duars recruiter, engaged to supply coolies to a certain estate in Assam on the per capita payment basis. The investigations of the supervisor and inspector disclosed the fact that Banerji had obtained from the manager a letter appointing him local agent of the estate. This letter, of course, had no legal effect. The case was detected in time to prevent the supply of any coolies, though it is believed that some were collected ready for despatch. The manager, when called upon for an explanation, readily admitted his fault and assisted the Board by furnishing all the information at his disposal. The Board, accordingly, dealt with the case by a reprimand which has been published in the proceedings of the local Branch of the Indian Tea Association. A case has been instituted against Banerji and Chakrabarty.

Two other cases of suspected dealings with arkatties are under investigation, one in the Balaghat district and the other at Buxar in the Saran district. In the latter case suspicion has been aroused regarding a gang of coolies who turned unwilling at Goalundo. There are grounds for the belief that they were not bonâ fide emigrants and that the garden-sardar obtained them from a well-known arkatti at Buxar. Unfortunately the magistrate at Goalundo released the coolies without referring to the local agent or the Board, so it is difficult to trace them but the supervisor and the inspector have the matter in hand.

Taking it all round, the Board consider that the position as regards illegal recruitment is now satisfactory. Doubtless there are occasionally isolated cases of garden-sardars obtaining coolies from petty arkatties, which are generally detected owing to the vigilance of local agents, but the organised gangs have been broken up and are no longer at work. This happy result is due in a great measure to the loyal support which the Board have received from employers, who as a body refuse to have any dealings with illegal recruiters. It was mentioned in paragraph 15 of last year's report that the Central Provinces Administration had prohibited recruitment by garden-sardars not working under a local agent. Similar notifications have been published by the other local Governments in the recruiting districts. Thus a definite stop has been put to recruitment by independent garden-sardars, who generally either were themselves arkatties or obtained their recruits through the latter.

19. Garden-sardars are not always free from blame, their most common offence being misdescription at which the emigrants themselves actively connive.

Offences of garden-sardars.

Such cases are reported by the local agent to the magistrate, with the result that the garden-sardar is generally convicted and imprisoned. In comparison with the large number of garden-sardars at work the cases are not numerous.

V.—FINANCIAL.

20. By Department of Commerce and Industry notification No. 1092, dated the 6th April 1918, the rate of cess during the year under review was fixed at

Collection and refund of cess.

Rs. 2 per garden-sardar and labouring emigrant. The cess was punctually collected, collections by local agents being checked locally by the supervisor in the course of his inspections as provided in revised rule 24 (4). The Chairman also checked collection work in some cases. A total sum of Rs. 1,500 was refunded, viz., Rs. 1,128 on 564 garden-sardars and Rs. 372 on 186 emigrants.

21. In appendix C will be found the auditor's report and the audited statement of accounts. In the budget estimate for the year an income of Rs. 2,93,395-9-8

was estimated for, comprised of an opening balance of Rs. 1,59,000, which included Rs. 1,25,000 invested (the actual opening balance being Rs. 1,59,414-0-10), a Government grant towards the Chairman's salary of Rs. 14,145-9-8, a sum of Rs. 1,18,000 being the cess on 26,000 garden-sardars and 38,000 emigrants, and Rs. 2,250 as interest on investments. The actual income amounted to Rs. 2,38,499-10-10, including the above opening balance, but excluding receipts due to withdrawals of fixed deposits and realisations from matured Treasury Bills, other than a sum of Rs. 312-8-0 being the interest thereon which is included in the sum of Rs. 25,000 shown as matured on the receipt side of the audited statement of accounts, the decrease being due to lower realisations from cess on garden-sardars and emigrants which fell short of the estimate by Rs. 65,398. The apparent large reduction in the opening balance, as shown in the audited statement of receipts and expenditure, is due to the exclusion of Rs. 75,000 invested in 5½ per cent War Bonds and Rs. 50,000 placed in fixed deposit with the Bank of Bengal. It may be explained that the audited statement of accounts is prepared from the cash-book and, therefore, differs from the budget estimate, which includes in the opening balance sums invested and on fixed deposit at the close of the previous year, but excludes fixed deposits and purchase of Treasury Bills which are made and which mature during the course of the year. The expenditure, excluding sums invested, amounted to Rs. 72,334-12-5 against an estimate of Rs. 1,21,116-7-9, the reduction being due chiefly to the fact that the staff of supervisors was reduced to one. There were also economies under almost all other heads. The closing balance amounted to Rs. 1,61,164-14-5, as compared with the budget estimate of Rs. 1,72,279-1-11. The closing balance was comprised as follows:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Cash balance	11,477	6	5
Fixed deposit with Bank of Bengal	50,000	0	0
5½ per cent. War Bonds	75,000	0	0
Three months' Treasury Bills	24,687	8	0
TOTAL	1,61,164	14	5

The adjustment of the shares of the Chairman's salary from the 20th November 1917 to the 30th April 1918, between the Ministry of Food, the Government of India and the Board will bring in a further sum of Rs. 4,830-7-0 to the Board.

22. The budget estimate for 1918-19, as passed at the meeting of the Board held in March 1918, provides for an income of Rs. 2,49,134-3-6 made up as follows :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Opening balance	1,64,454	0	0
Cess at Rs. 2 on garden-sardars and emigrants	64,000	0	0
Government of India's contribution (which will now be reduced as the result of the redistribution of the contributions towards the Chairman's salary)	15,679	3	6
Interest on investments	5,001	0	0

An expenditure of Rs. 90,926-3-0 has been budgetted for, leaving an estimated closing balance of Rs. 1,58,208-0-6.

VI.—MISCELLANEOUS.

23. Doubt having arisen as to whether the currency of the certificates granted to garden-sardars is governed by the endorsement signed by the countersigning officer to the effect that the certificate ceases to be in force on the expiry of twelve months from the date of countersignature, or by the entry made by the employer in column 12, specifying the period within which the garden-sardar is required to return to the garden, the question was referred to the Assam Administration, who ruled that the period is governed by the endorsement and that all certificates are, therefore, in force proprio vigore for one year from the date of countersignature, the entry in column 12 by the employer being merely an instruction. In order to make this quite clear a revised certificate and endorsement have been prescribed by the Chief Commissioner. The matter is of importance since courts, as a rule, were under the impression that the currency of the certificate depended upon the entry in column 12, with the result that garden-sardars bringing in recruits after the expiry of the period specified in that column were often prosecuted and in some cases sentenced to substantial terms of imprisonment. Countersigning officers in Assam used frequently, also, erroneously to correct the endorsement so as to bring the period into conformity with that specified in column 12. Garden-sardars are generally ignorant people with a very hazy idea as to dates, and when they visit their villages are rather apt to take their own time in returning. If they bring in coolies after their certificates have expired a technical offence has undoubtedly been committed, but as long as the recruits are produced before the local agent for registration no actual harm is done to any one, so the Board are of opinion that sentences of imprisonment in such cases are to be deprecated as an unduly harsh punishment.

A minor matter in connection with these certificates, which often occasions trouble and delay, is the fact that technical mistakes are not infrequently made by employers in filling them up, and this is especially the case when a local agency comprises more districts than one. In strict law the certificates must be returned to the labour district for amendment, and countersigning officers often require the re-appearance before them of the garden-sardar when attesting the correction. This entails considerable expense and delay as well as harassment to the garden-sardar. The Tea Districts Labour Supply Association accordingly suggested that magistrates in the recruiting districts might be authorised, as an executive measure, to make the necessary corrections. The Board recommended this suggestion to local Governments in the recruiting districts and favourable replies have been received from the Governments of Madras, Bengal, the United Provinces, and the Central Provinces. The Government of Bihar and Orissa were unable to agree to the proposal on the technical grounds already mentioned, but have suggested that the necessary corrections can be made by the countersigning officer in Assam under section 60 of the Act without requiring the re-appearance of the garden-sardar. A reference has been made to the Assam Administration on this point.

24. Transit arrangements are generally satisfactory. The rest-houses maintained by the forwarding agents were inspected by the Board's staff, who found the arrangements, including those for the supply of food, to be adequate. Several conferences have been held with the administration of the Eastern Bengal Railway, with a view to the improvement of transit facilities on the Amingaon route, and the Board wish to acknowledge the sympathetic consideration given to the subject by the Agent and his staff. The revised arrangements, when completed, will place the transit facilities on this railway on a very satisfactory footing. The route is one which is likely to become increasingly popular owing to the saving of time effected.

25. The Board received the thanks of the Government of India, Army Department, and of the Government of Bihar and Orissa for the assistance rendered by them in raising Labour Corps in Chota Nagpur and the Santal Parganas.

Rainfall Summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 21st November 1918, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. A storm formed in the Bay to the east of Negapatam and travelled first northwards and then northeastwards, but it became less marked as it progressed and at the end of the week was merely a diffuse depression lying over the northern half of the Bay. It was the cause of fairly general rain in the south and east of the Peninsula, and local falls on the Bengal coast and in Burma.

Weather was unsettled in the extreme north of India, but Cherat and Sonamarg were the only stations that reported precipitation.

2. Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general on the Arakan coast from the 18th to the 20th. A few falls occurred during the week in Tenasserim and Upper Burma.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Light falls of rain were reported from False Point, Barisal, Chittagong and Cox's Bazar.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—There was no rain.

Northwest India.—Light precipitation occurred at Sonamarg and Cherat.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
16th November 1918.

Burma.—Rainfall was generally light throughout the province. Harvesting of early rice has commenced in Lower Burma. Plucking of cotton, gathering of groundnuts and cultivation of miscellaneous dry crops continue in Upper Burma. Standing crops are generally good but ripening showers are needed in several districts of Lower Burma. Cattle are generally healthy. The price of unhusked rice in Rangoon has risen slightly and is much above normal. The market for white rice is steady at Rs. 407-8 per hundred baskets for specials.

Assam.—The weather was seasonable. Manufacture of tea, harvesting of winter rice, plucking of cotton and sowing of mustard and pulses are in progress. Paddy crops are reported to have been damaged by insects in some places. Prospects of tea are fair. Cattle disease is reported from three districts. Price of common rice remains unchanged.

Bengal.—No rain fell during the week. It is urgently wanted for transplanted winter paddy and other standing crops. Sowing of spring crops has been retarded by drought. Prospects of winter paddy are generally unsatisfactory in western and northern districts but are fair only in eastern districts. The average price of common rice has risen by about 1·2 per cent.

Bihar and Orissa.—There was no rain during the week. Harvesting of early winter paddy continues. In Chota Nagpur sowing of spring crops is going on but is being retarded in several districts for want of moisture. Great damage has been done to the winter paddy by the prolonged drought. Prospects are bad. Test works have been opened in Angul. The price of common rice has risen in six districts, fallen in seven, and remained stationary in the remaining districts as compared with that of the preceding week. Cattle disease is reported from eight districts. Paddy has suffered greatly from want of rain in the Feudatory States of Orissa.

United Provinces.—No rain fell during the week. Autumn crops have generally been damaged by drought. Preparation of land for spring crops and poppy and their sowing is going on where practicable. Harvesting of autumn crops and irrigation of sugarcane continue. Pressing of sugarcane has commenced in many districts. Picking of cotton still continues. Condition of standing crops is fair in irrigated tracts but bad elsewhere. Prospects are unfavourable. Very little cattle disease is reported and condition of agricultural stock is generally fair. Fodder is dear and is getting scarce in many districts. Water and market supplies are deficient in a few districts. Prices are almost stationary with a tendency to rise.

Punjab.—The weather was dry. Rain is badly wanted everywhere. Standing autumn crops are generally average on irrigated and poor on unirrigated areas. Picking of cotton and reaping of other crops are in progress, with yield generally normal on irrigated and much below normal on unirrigated areas. Pressing of sugarcane has commenced in a few districts. Sowings of wheat and other spring crops continue and are generally below normal. Germination is fair. Cattle are generally healthy and water is sufficient. Fodder is scarce in some districts. Prices are generally stationary but have risen slightly in some districts and are above scarcity rates. Prices of wheat :—Ambala 6, Lyallpur 6½, Ferozepore, Lahore and Rawalpindi 6½ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—The week was rainless. Rain is much needed. Sowings of spring crops are in progress in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan but are restricted in Bannu. Prospects of standing crops are average on irrigated and below average on unirrigated areas in Peshawar and Bannu and poor in Dera Ismail Khan owing to drought. Maize and chari are being reaped with outturn average. The price of wheat in Peshawar is 7½ and in Dera Ismail Khan 7¼ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—No rain fell during the week. Prices are stationary.

Kashmir.—The week was generally dry and cold. Spring operations are in progress. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are high.

Rajputana.—The week was rainless. Harvesting of crops in irrigated areas is proceeding in certain places but the crops in unirrigated areas are withering. Prospects are poor. Sowings of spring crops are restricted. The condition of cattle is generally fair but they are weak in a few places owing to scarcity of fodder. Cattle disease prevails in certain places. Water is sufficient. Prices are high but falling slightly in some places.

Central India.—No rain fell during the week. Sowing of spring crops is almost finished in Indore and Southern States and is in progress elsewhere except Gwalior where it is not progressing in several districts owing to influenza. Autumn crops are being harvested and cotton is being picked. Standing crops have withered in Bundelkhand, are bad in Gwalior and Baghelkhand, suffering for want of rain in Bhopal and fair elsewhere. Probable outturn is almost nil in Bundelkhand except Panna and Bijawar, far below average in Baghelkhand, below average in Dhar, Manipur, Jhabua and Bhopal except Bhopal itself and Kurwai where they are ten to twelve annas, eight to twelve annas in Malwa, Prant and some districts of Gwalior and Prant and fair in Indore, Malwa and Southern States. Crops have mostly failed in the Northern districts of Gwalior, have been damaged in Bundelkhand and parts of Bhopal, Malwa and Southern States and seriously damaged in Baghelkhand for want of rain. Agricultural stock is good in Indore, bad in Gwalior and fair elsewhere. Scarcity of fodder prevails in Gwalior, Indore, Malwa and parts of Southern States. Prices are high.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been clear and cool with occasional clouds. The prolonged drought continues. Harvesting of autumn crops and picking of cotton are proceeding. Sowing of spring crops is almost completed but germination is reported to be defective in the lighter soils and the seedlings are withering for want of moisture in the seed bed in several districts. Rain is urgently required all over the province for the spring crops. The supply of fodder and water is inadequate in parts of Hoshangabad, Betul, Chhindwara and Berar Districts. Influenza still prevails in eight districts. Relief works in Sironcha continue. Weavers of Nagpur are in straitened circumstances owing to high prices of raw material and small demand and measures are being taken to alleviate the distress. Price of gram fell and that of rice and wheat rose in Damoh and Yeotmal respectively. Gram in Drug and rice in Raipur and Akola became dearer by 1 to 1½ seers per rupee. Other variations are irregular and unimportant.

Bombay.—Beneficial rain fell in parts of Konkan, Karnatak, Kolhapur and Savantvadi and very slight in the Deccan and Kathiawar. Autumn crops are withering in many places. Autumn harvesting generally continues. Spring sowing is nearly over. Cotton picking continues in Nawabshah, Thar and Parkar, Hyderabad, Khandesh, Sholapur and Dharwar. Fodder supply is generally deficient but pasture has been improved in some places by recent rain. Famine Fodder Controller has been appointed and fodder is being supplied to all affected districts from stocks. Fodder is also being taken over by Government in grass areas and movement of fodder is being controlled. Agricultural stock is generally sufficient but cattle are deteriorating in parts of Karachi, Hyderabad, Ahmedabad, Kaira, the Deccan, Kolhapur and Kathiawar. Irrigation is deficient in parts of Sind, Kaira, Surat, Poona, Sholapur and Karnatak. Prices of food grains are high but generally steady.

Hyderabad.—Slight showers fell in parts, the average being eight cents. Harvesting of autumn crops continues. Crops have suffered. Early rice suffered in parts and is being harvested. Spring crops are fair to good. They have been damaged by insects in parts. Nalgonda taluk generally needs rain. Sowings have nearly been completed. Cattle are healthy. Fodder scarcity prevails in many places. Prices of grains are abnormally high. Juar is selling at 2½ seers per rupee in the Bir district.

Mysore.—The week was slightly wet. Standing crops are improving but more rain is wanted. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are generally steady.

Coorg.—Slight rain fell during the week. Rice is in fair condition, ears are forming. Reaping of dry crops has been completed. Picking of cardamom and coffee continues. Cattle disease prevails in some villages. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient. Public health is fair. Prices of food grains are high.

Madras.—Rainfall was very heavy in Nellore and Madras, heavy in Cuddapah, Chingleput, Chittoor, Coimbatore and in the Hills, nil in Ganjam, light in Vizagapatam, Banganapalle and good or fair elsewhere. Standing crops are generally fair but are withering in parts for want of rain. Harvesting of paddy and dry crops is limited with outturn sometimes fair but poor in two and parts of thirteen other districts. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are proceeding but are restricted in parts for want of rain. The condition of cattle is generally good. Water is insufficient except in Cuddapah, Nellore, Chingleput, Tanjore, Malabar and the Hills. Pasture is sufficient except in one district and parts of five others. Fodder is sufficient except in four and parts of seven other districts. Prices are showing a slight tendency to fall. Prospects are improving in majority of districts.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for week ending Saturday, 23rd November 1918.

Burma.—Rainfall was generally light throughout the province. Reaping of early rice is progressing in Lower Burma. Cultivation of island and miscellaneous winter crops and harvesting of groundnut and cotton are proceeding in Upper Burma. Standing crops are generally good, but more rain is still wanted in several Lower Burma districts. Cattle are generally healthy. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon has fallen but is much above normal. The market for white rice is weak at Rs. 380 per hundred baskets for specials.

Assam.—The weather was seasonable. Harvesting of winter rice, plucking of cotton, tea manufacture, and sowing of mustard and pulses continue. Insects are reported to have damaged the paddy crops in some places. Prospects of cotton and sugarcane are fair. Cattle disease is reported in four districts. The price of common rice is practically unchanged.

Bengal.—There was no rain during the week excepting light showers in some eastern districts. Rain is urgently wanted for sowing and growth of spring crops. Prospects are unfavourable. Harvesting of winter paddy has commenced in some places. Standing paddy is drying up and ripening prematurely, especially in western districts. Price of rice has risen by about 2·3 per cent.

Bihar and Orissa.—There was no rain during the week, except some light showers in Puri. Harvesting of winter rice continues. A poor outturn is expected. Sowing of spring crops is going on, but is being retarded in almost all districts for want of moisture. Pressing of sugarcane has commenced. Test works continue in Angul. The price of common rice has risen in 5 districts, fallen in 6, and remained stationary in the remaining districts as compared with that in the preceding week. Cattle disease is reported from 8 districts. Winter paddy is withering in all the Feudatory States for want of rain.

United Provinces.—There was no rain during the week. It is badly required. Crops have been generally damaged by drought, also by insects. In a few districts preparation of land for and sowing of spring crops and poppy continues. Harvesting of autumn crops is nearing completion in many districts. Irrigation of spring crops and sugarcane where possible, pressing of sugarcane, and picking of cotton is going on. Standing crops are in a fair condition in irrigated areas. Prospects are unfavourable. The condition of agricultural stock is generally fair. Cattle disease is still reported from some districts. Fodder is getting scarce and dear. Water and market supplies are adequate except in a few districts. Prices are generally stationary with a tendency to rise.

Punjab.—The weather was dry. Rain is badly wanted for spring sowings. Standing irrigated autumn crops are generally average and unirrigated crops are poor. Picking of cotton, harvesting of millets, etc., and pressing of sugar-cane continue with yield generally normal on irrigated and much below normal on unirrigated areas. Sowings of wheat and other spring crops are proceeding and are generally below normal. Crops sown are germinating well. Cattle are generally healthy but are weak owing to scarcity of fodder in some districts. Water for drinking and irrigation purposes is generally sufficient. Prices are generally stationary and above scarcity rates. Prices of wheat :—Ambala 6, Rawalpindi 6, Ferozepore and Lahore 6½ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—The week was rainless. Rain is generally needed. Sowings of spring crops are in progress in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan but are restricted in Bannu. Prospects of standing crops are average on irrigated and below average on unirrigated areas in Peshawar and Bannu, and poor in Dera Ismail Khan owing to drought. Maize and Chari are being reaped with outturn average. Prices of wheat :—Peshawar 7½ and Dera Ismail Khan 7½ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was no rain during the week. Prices are stationary.

Kashmir.—Report not received.

Rajputana.—During the week the weather was cool. Rain is badly needed. Harvesting of crops in irrigated areas continues. Prospects are poor. Sowings of spring crops are restricted. The condition of cattle is fair. Cattle disease is reported from certain places. Scarcity of fodder is general. Water is sufficient. Prices are stationary.

Central India.—There was no rain during the week. It is badly wanted. Spring crops are being sown. Autumn crops are being harvested. Cotton is being picked in Gwalior and Indore and rice is being gathered in Baghelkhand. Standing crops have withered in Bundelkhand, are bad in Baghelkhand, suffering for want of rain in Bhopal and fair elsewhere. The probable outturn is 8 to 12 annas in Malwa, Bhilsa and Isagarh districts of Gwalior, below average in Bhopal except Bhopal itself and Kurwai where it is 10 to 12 annas. It is far below the average in Baghelkhand, almost nil in Bundelkhand except Bijawar and Chhatarpur, and fair in Indore, Malwa and Southern States except Dhar, Manipur and Jhabua where it is below average; damaged for want of rain in Bhopal, Bundelkhand and seriously damaged in Baghelkhand. Agricultural stock is good in Indore, bad in Gwalior, poor in Malwa and fair elsewhere. Scarcity of fodder prevails in Gwalior, Indore, Bundelkhand, Malwa and parts of Southern States. Prices are high.

Central Provinces.—The weather continues to be cool and occasionally cloudy. No rain fell anywhere during the week. Reaping and threshing of autumn crops and picking of cotton are well advanced. Spring sowings are approaching completion but operations are hampered in several districts for lack of moisture in the soil. Rain is immediately required throughout the province, otherwise it is apprehended that considerable damage will be done to the spring crops, particularly to those on inferior soil. Fodder and water are sufficient except in parts of the Nerbudda and Berar divisions. Influenza is abating but is still severe in parts of 9 districts. Distress in Sironcha is aggravated by influenza and relief works and kitchens are temporarily closed and gratuitous relief has been extended. The price of gram in Damoh and rice in Buldana rose and that of gram in Mandla and Amraoti, rice in Chanda and Akola, and juar in Betul, fell by one to 1½ seers per rupee. Elsewhere prices remained steady or fluctuated slightly, but on the whole prices seem to be a bit easier as the new juar is coming into the market.

Feudatory States.—Harvesting and threshing of autumn crops is in progress. Spring crops require rain urgently.

Bombay.—Slight rain fell in Ratnagiri and Dharwar. Autumn crops are withering in many places. Autumn harvesting generally continues. Spring sowing is nearly over. Cotton picking continues in Nawabshah, Rewa Kantha, Khandesh, Sholapur and Dharwar. Fodder supply is generally deficient, but pastures have improved in Karnatak. Agricultural stock is generally sufficient, but cattle are deteriorating in parts of Karachi, Hyderabad, Ahmedabad, Kaira, the Deccan, Kolhapur and Kathiawar. Irrigation is deficient in parts of Sind, Kaira, Surat, Poona, Sholapur and Karnatak. Prices of food grains are high, but generally steady. Scarcity was declared in Ahmedabad, Kaira, Panch Mahals, Kathiawar, Ahmednagar, Nasik, Poona, and West Khandesh.

Hyderabad.—Report not received.

Mysore.—The week was slightly wet. Standing crops are improving, but more rain is wanted in parts. Harvested ragi outturn is poor to fair; rice and sugarcandy outturn is fair. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are fluctuating.

Coorg.—The week was slightly wet. The condition of rice is fair, ears are growing. Picking of cardamom and coffee continues. Cattle disease prevails in some villages. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient. The public health is fair. Prices of food grains are high.

Madras.—Rainfall was very heavy in Madras, South Arcot, and Tanjore; heavy in Chingleput and Pudukkottai; good in Nellore, North Arcot, Salem, Trichinopoly, Madura, Ramnad, Tinnevely, Malabar, Cochin and the hills; fair in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, and Littoral, Chittoor, Coimbatore and Travancore; slight or nil elsewhere. Standing crops are fair generally, but have been lost or are withering in parts for want of rain. Harvesting of paddy and dry crops is limited with outturn sometimes fair but poor in parts of twelve districts. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are proceeding, but are restricted in parts for want of rain. Condition of cattle is good generally. Water is insufficient except in Cuddapah, Nellore, Chingleput, Trichinopoly, Tanjore, Malabar and the hills. Pasture is sufficient except in two districts and parts of six others. Fodder is sufficient except in four, and parts of eight other districts. Prices continue to be high generally and show a tendency to rise further. Prospects are improving except in parts of four districts.

No. 17445-1.

ARMY HEADQUARTERS, INDIA.

Simla, the 20th August 1918.

FROM

HIS EXCELLENCY GENERAL SIR CHARLES

CARMICHAEL MONRO, G.C.M.G., K.C.B.,

Commander-in-Chief in India,

TO

THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA,

ARMY DEPARTMENT.

SIR,

Although the time has not yet arrived for publishing full details regarding the assistance rendered by India towards the prosecution of the war, and though this despatch does not purport to be a complete narrative of India's effort in this respect, I have the honour to submit, in continuation of my despatches of the 9th March 1916 and 23rd July 1917 which dealt with minor operations, a brief account of the work done in India, including the Native States, during the first three years of the war.

2. The declaration of war, on the 4th August 1914, found the Army in India distributed to meet normal hot weather conditions. The bulk of the British troops were temporarily located in the hills, a large percentage of the Indian troops were on furlough and the usual proportion of civil and military officers were on leave out of India. Immediate steps were taken for the despatch of expeditionary forces overseas. The first convoy sailed for France on the 25th August 1914 and it was followed at a few days' interval by others, conveying troops not only to Europe, but also to East Africa, Egypt and Mesopotamia.

3. In order to meet the urgent demand for trained soldiers which arose during the winter of 1914-15, the British forces in India were further depleted by the despatch to England of a number of Regular units, so that, by the beginning of 1915, the British garrison was largely composed of Territorial troops sent to replace the Regulars withdrawn. Besides providing guns and rifles for the equipping of the New Armies, India lent the services of a large number of officers who were on leave in the United Kingdom when war broke out and were retained there for the training of the newly raised troops and for staff and other duties under the War Office.

4. During 1915, attempts were made by the enemy through various sources to create disaffection in the Indian Army, and provoke internal disorder. These efforts were successfully checked owing to the loyalty of the troops and the prompt assistance rendered by the Indian Police, who displayed great courage and efficiency in the performance of their difficult duties.

5. The necessity for the despatch of large drafts of officers and men overseas to replace wastage in the units fighting in France, Gallipoli, Egypt, Mesopotamia, East Africa, and the Cameroons, caused a very heavy strain on the Indian Army. The substantial assistance rendered at this juncture by the Nepal Durbar, in placing a contingent of their troops at the disposal of the Government of India, proved, therefore, most timely. The Prime Minister of Nepal also placed the services of his son, General Sir Baber Shum Shere Jang Bahadoor Rana, K.C.I.E., at the disposal of my predecessor. The untiring efforts of this officer have been of the greatest assistance, while the Nepalese troops have proved a valuable addition to our strength, and have materially assisted in the task of maintaining order on India's frontiers, notably in connection with the operations in Waziristan in 1917.

6. Meanwhile, the various expeditionary forces dependent on India continued to expand. The force in Mesopotamia, which had originally consisted of one division, had increased considerably. Moreover, owing to Turkish incursions into the Aden hinterland, it had become necessary to increase the Aden garrison so as to ensure the safety of that fortress. In addition, several minor operations had to be undertaken on the North-East and North-West frontiers as well as in Sistan and Waziristan.

7. The maintenance of these forces entailed a heavy drain on India, not only in men but also in munitions, medical equipment, and supplies. To meet these demands, every endeavour was made to develop all available resources. With the assistance of the Railway Board, steps were taken in 1915 to supplement the manufacturing capacity of the ordnance establishments by organising munition factories in railway and other workshops. These efforts proved so successful that by the end of 1916 the monthly output of shell alone had increased 1,200 per cent. In addition to the manufacture of munitions, the Railway Board assisted in the provision of railway material, river craft and machinery, and in the recruitment of technical personnel.

8. The reorganization of the force in Mesopotamia preparatory to the advance on Baghdad, the development of the port of Basrah, and the provision of a large river flotilla for service on the Tigris, created fresh demands on India necessitating extensive changes in the organization of sources of supply. The Indian Munitions Board was accordingly constituted, and early in 1917 it assumed responsibility for the construction of river craft and the provision of railway material, engineering stores, machinery, tools, timber, textiles, hides and electrical plant, not only for the forces overseas, but also for those serving in India. It subsequently took over the control of the Ordnance, Clothing and Boot Factories and of various industries directly connected with the manufacture of army requirements. These activities were in nowise affected by the decision, arrived at early in 1916, to place the control of operations in Mesopotamia directly under the War Office, and they have continued to expand and develop ever since, entailing constantly increasing demands on the resources of India.

9. At the outbreak of war, several Volunteer units undertook to replace or supplement, for as long as might be necessary, the Regulars in certain garrisons, in which employment they rendered excellent service. The Volunteer Force, as formerly constituted, has since ceased to exist and has been reorganized as the Indian Defence Force. The passing of the Indian Defence Force Act in 1917 rendered military training compulsory for all European British subjects in India between the ages of 16 and 50, thus bringing their military obligations more into line with those required of their fellow citizens in other portions of the Empire. These increased obligations have been accepted in a soldierly and patriotic spirit and officers and men have spared no effort to improve their military training. The efforts made to develop and improve this force have been attended with success and, though only recently constituted, it has attained considerable efficiency.

10. The regimental and departmental recruiting agencies which before the war had sufficed to provide the small numbers required for the maintenance of peace cadres, were found incapable of meeting the increased demands arising from war wastage, the creation of many new units and the recruitment of labour on a considerable scale. The formation of a Central Recruiting Board was accordingly decided on in 1917 and its work has been conspicuously successful. Thanks to the willing assistance rendered by Local Governments, all sources of recruitment have been systematically exploited, with the result that, besides raising recruits for the combatant ranks on a greatly increased scale, large numbers have been enlisted for Indian Labour Corps overseas as well as for various technical services.

11. The sick and wounded despatched to India from oversea theatres of war, as well as those invalided from Waziristan and other theatres of frontier operations, have been adequately and sympathetically cared for. A number of war hospitals have been formed, other hospitals have been expanded and improved, and Ruling Chiefs and others have generously provided hospitals and convalescent homes in Bombay and elsewhere, in which everything possible has been done for the comfort of the sick and wounded. The satisfactory health of the troops, both in the field and in India, affords striking testimony as to the value and efficacy of these measures and the skill, forethought and administrative capacity of the Medical Services.

12. I desire to place on record my high appreciation of the services rendered to the Army in India by Local Governments, Civil Departments and various public bodies such as Railway Administrations, Port Trusts and Municipalities, besides many shipping companies and private firms.

13. The help rendered by the Finance Department, and more especially its Military Finance Branch, has been of the highest value and I readily acknowledge the promptitude with which it has met all military demands. The Commerce and Industry Department, including the Railway Board, has rendered valuable aid in respect of railways, shipping and the working of the postal and telegraph services. The Home Department has been most helpful in measures affecting the maintenance of internal security, in encouraging recruitment for the army from the police, and in releasing medical officers in large numbers from civil employment for service with the troops. The Revenue and Agriculture and Public Works Departments have assisted in various ways, the former in the collection of supplies and the latter in the release of officers and subordinates for Army service.

14. My thanks are due to the Foreign and Political Department which has always maintained most cordial relations with the Staff at Army Headquarters; to the Army Department which has been called upon to deal with a great increase of business and has worked with the Headquarters Staff in the closest co-operation; and lastly to the Marine Department which has been responsible for the fitting out, repair and coaling of numerous transports and hospital ships, and the embarkation and transportation of large numbers of troops who have been conveyed to their destinations overseas with promptitude, comfort and safety.

15. This despatch would not be complete without a special acknowledgment of the spontaneous and generous assistance afforded by Ruling Princes and Chiefs, as well as by the British and Indian communities throughout India, in the contribution of men, money and material towards the prosecution of the war. A similar acknowledgment is due in respect of the services rendered by the Indian Branch of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, the British Red Cross Society, the Imperial Indian Relief Funds, the Provincial War and Relief Funds, the Young Men's Christian Association, the Soldiers and Sailors Families Association, and the various organizations formed in every province to supplement the equipment of hospitals and provide comforts for the troops, in the work of which ladies and gentlemen, both official and non-official, have laboured with conspicuous devotion.

16. A list of those whose services have been of particular value and whose assistance and work I desire to bring specially to notice, forms the subject of Appendix I of this despatch.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

C. C. MONRO, General,
Commander-in-Chief in India.

His Majesty the KING has been graciously pleased to approve of the award of the Victoria Cross to the undermentioned Men :—

* * * * *

No. 4146 Rifleman. Karanbahadur Rana, Gurkha Rif.

For most conspicuous bravery, resource in action under adverse conditions, and utter contempt for danger.

During an attack he, with a few other men, succeeded under intense fire, in creeping forward with a Lewis gun in order to engage an enemy machine gun which had caused severe casualties to officers and other ranks who had attempted to put it out of action.

No. 1 of the Lewis gun opened fire, and was shot immediately. Without a moment's hesitation Rifleman Karanbahadur pushed the dead man off the gun, and in spite of bombs thrown at him and heavy fire from both flanks, he opened fire and knocked out the enemy machine-gun crew; then, switching his fire on to the enemy bombers and rifleman in front of him, he silenced their fire. He kept his gun in action and showed the greatest coolness in removing defects which on two occasions prevented the gun from firing. During the remainder of the day he did magnificent work, and when a withdrawal was ordered he assisted with covering fire until the enemy were close on him. He displayed throughout a very high standard of valour and devotion to duty.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
30th November 1918.

Burma.—Light to moderate rain was general throughout the province. Reaping of early paddy is proceeding in several Lower Burma districts. Sowing of island crops and harvesting of groundnut and cotton are progressing in Upper Burma. Standing crops are generally good. Cattle are healthy. The price of unhusked rice in Rangoon has fallen further but is still much above normal. The market for white rice is weak at Rs. 340 per hundred baskets for specials.

Assam.—The weather was seasonable. Harvesting of winter rice, plucking of cotton and manufacture of tea continue. Paddy crops are reported to have been damaged by insects in some places. Outturn of winter rice, tea and cotton is fair. Cattle disease is reported in three districts. The price of common rice is unchanged.

Bengal.—There was practically no rain during the week, excepting light showers in parts of Chittagong division. Reaping of winter rice continues. Outturn is unsatisfactory in many places. Owing to drought transplanting of tobacco seedlings and sowing of potatoes, oilseeds and wheat are progressing slowly. Spring crops are daily in need of rain. Damage to winter paddy by insects is reported from some eastern districts. The price of common rice rose by 1·5 per cent.

Bihar and Orissa.—Light rain fell in parts of Orissa and Chota Nagpur. There was no rain in the rest of the province. Harvesting of winter paddy and pressing of sugarcane continue. Sowing of spring crops is going on but is being retarded in several districts for want of moisture. Prospects are bad, especially in the Patna, Orissa and Chota Nagpur divisions. In Angul test works have been opened at 32 places and gratuitous relief was given to 154 persons. The price of common rice has risen in five districts, fallen in six and remained stationary in the remaining districts as compared with that in the preceding week. Cattle disease is reported from nine districts.

United Provinces.—Light rain fell in many districts. It was beneficial to the crops but more is urgently needed. Some damage to crops by drought is still reported. Spring crops have been attacked by white ants. In the Rae Bareilly district preparation of land for and sowing of spring and poppy crops continue. Harvesting of autumn crops is nearly finished in many places. Pressing of sugarcane, picking of cotton and irrigation of spring crops and sugarcane are in progress. Standing crops have improved by rain. Prospects are still unfavourable. Condition of agricultural stock is generally satisfactory. Fodder is getting scarce and dear. Water and market supplies are generally sufficient. Prices are stationary with a tendency to rise.

Punjab.—The weather remained dry. Rain is urgently wanted for spring crops. Condition of standing autumn crops is generally average on irrigated areas and poor on unirrigated areas. Picking of cotton, pressing of sugarcane and harvesting of other crops continue on irrigated areas and are below normal to normal. Standing irrigated crops are average to good and unirrigated crops are below average. Cattle are generally healthy but are weak in some districts owing to scarcity of fodder. Water is generally sufficient. Prices are generally stationary and above scarcity rates. Prices of wheat:—Ambala 6, Rawalpindi 6½, Lyallpur 6½, Ferozepore and Lahore 6½ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—The week was rainless. Rain is greatly needed. Sowings of spring crops are in progress in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan but are restricted in Bannu. Prospects of standing crops are average on irrigated and below average on unirrigated areas in Peshawar and Bannu and poor in Dera Ismail Khan owing to drought. Maize and ohari are being reaped with outturn average. Prices of wheat:—Peshawar 7½ and Dera Ismail Khan 8½ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was no rain during the week. Prices are still rising in some tahsils.

Kashmir.—Report not received.

Rajputana.—Rain fell in a few places during the week. The weather was cool. Harvesting of crops in irrigated areas is nearing completion. Prospects are poor. Sowings of spring crops are late and restricted. Condition of cattle is fair. Scarcity of fodder is general. Water is sufficient. Prices are stationary but show a tendency to fall.

Central India.—The rainfall was good in parts of Bundelkhand, and in Gwalior and Southern States and general elsewhere except Bhopal and Baghelkhand, where it was insufficient. Slight showers of rain are reported in Indore district but rain is still badly wanted.

for spring crops. Spring crops are being sown. Autumn crops are being harvested. Cotton picking is in progress in Gwalior, Indore and Southern States. Standing crops have withered in Bundelkhand, are good in Bhopal, bad in Baghelkhand and fair elsewhere. The probable outturn is unsatisfactory in Bundelkhand, fair in Baghelkhand, Malwa and Southern States. Prospects have much improved by recent winter rains in Bhopal and Bundelkhand, have been damaged by insects in Basoda, seriously damaged in Baghelkhand, and have withered in Indore for want of rain. Condition of agricultural stock is not satisfactory in northern districts of Gwalior except Bhilsa but is fair elsewhere. Scarcity of fodder prevails in Gwalior, Bundelkhand and in parts of Southern States. Prices are high. Poppy cultivation is in progress in Gwalior.

Central Provinces.—The weather continues to be clondy and cool. Light to moderate rain was received throughout the Provinces during the latter part of the week. The fall has been very opportune and with the dew that has now begun to fall will greatly improve the condition of spring crops. It was accompanied by light hail in parts of Hoshangabad, Nimar and Buldana but the damage caused was slight. Reaping and threshing of autumn crops and picking of cotton are very well advanced and spring sowings are approaching completion. Fodder and water are insufficient in parts of Betul, Chhindwara and Berar districts. Cattle disease prevails in a sporadic form in parts of four districts. Gratuitous relief is being extended in Sironcha. Influenza is generally speaking abating but is spreading to remote and jungly villages in nine districts. Gram in Mandla, rice in Hoshangabad and juar in Betul rose, while gram in Hoshangabad and rice in Yeotmal fell by one to $1\frac{1}{4}$ seers per rupee. Other variations are insignificant but exhibit a slight downward course.

The weekly report on scarcity in Sironcha is as follows:—Distress in Sironcha has been aggravated by influenza which is severe in Sironcha and in villages. Public works and kitchens have been temporarily closed, gratuitous relief being rapidly extended temporarily to replace other relief measures which are suspended. Number on relief—ordinary works 181, gratuitous 281, total 462.

Feudatory States.—Harvesting and threshing of autumn crops are in progress. The rain has been very beneficial to spring crops.

Bombay.—Good rain fell in Karnatak, Kolhapur, parts of Konkan and the Deccan and slight in Savantvadi and Rewa Kantha. Standing crops are withering in many places but have improved somewhat by recent rain. Autumn harvesting generally continues. Spring sowing is nearly over. Cotton picking continues in parts of Sind, Broach, Surat, Rewa Kantha, Baroda, Khandesh and Sholapur. Fodder supply is generally deficient but pastures have improved in Karnatak. Agricultural stock is generally sufficient but cattle are deteriorating in several districts of Kolhapur and Kathiawar. Water is sufficient for drinking purposes but deficient for irrigation purposes in parts of Sind, Kaira, Surat, the Deccan and Karnatak. Prices of food grains are high but generally steady. Demand for labour is sufficient. Wages are normal. Test works were opened in Kaira, Panch Mahals and Ahmednagar.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall during the week was good in parts of three districts and 10 to 76 cents elsewhere. The average fall was 52 cents. Autumn harvest is almost completed except cotton which is being picked. Early rice harvest continues, the crop has suffered. Autumn crops are fair to good. They have been damaged by insects in parts of Nalgonda taluk. Cattle are healthy. Fodder scarcity is reported from many places. Prices of grains continue to be abnormally high. Juar is selling at 2 seers per rupee in the Parbhani district.

Mysore.—The week was generally wet. Standing crops are in fair condition. Harvested ragi outturn is poor to fair; rice and sugarcane outturn is fair. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are generally steady.

Coorg.—Moderate rain fell during the week. Condition of rice is fair, ears are growing. Picking of cardamom and coffee continues. Cattle disease prevails in some villages. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient. Public health is fair. Prices of food grains are high.

Madras.—Rainfall was heavy in Nellore, Chingleput, Madras, Coimbatore, Madura, Malabar, North Cochin and the hills; good in Guntur, Kurnool, Banganapalle, Bellary, Anantapur, South Arcot, Central except Coimbatore, South except Madura and South Canara, nil in Ganjam, unreported in Vizagapatam Agency and light or fair elsewhere. Standing crops are fair generally but have been lost or are withering in parts owing to excess or deficiency of rainfall. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops is limited with outturn sometimes fair but poor in one and parts of eleven other districts. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are proceeding but are restricted in places for want of rain. Condition of cattle is good generally. Water is insufficient except in Nellore, Chingleput, Coimbatore, Trichinopoly, Tanjore, West Coast and the hills. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of three districts. Fodder is sufficient except in one and parts of seven other districts. Prices are stationary or have fallen in the majority of cases. Prospects are fair except in parts of five districts. Distress is feared owing to failure of crops in two outlying villages in Salem district. Test works have just been started.

The dates appended to various prohibitions are those of Orders of Council imposing or amending those prohibitions since the Royal Proclamation of 10th May, 1916. Where no date appears it may be assumed that the prohibition stands as it did on the 10th May, 1916.

List C.—By order of Council, dated the 1st October, 1918, All Goods [other than (1) printed matter and (2) personal effects accompanied by their owners] are prohibited from export to All Destinations in European and Asiatic Russia and in other Foreign Countries in Europe and on the Mediterranean, except France and French Possessions, Italy and Italian Possessions, and Portugal, and to all Ports in any such Foreign Countries. The attention of exporters is drawn to the fact that various articles marked B may, in view of the percentage of copper contained in them, be subject to the Copper Prohibition (List A). (See "Copper.")

Application must therefore be made to the War Trade Department for licences to export goods which fall within the aforementioned copper prohibition on account of the quantity of copper contained therein. War Office, 16th September, 1918.

His Majesty the KING has been graciously pleased to approve of the following Awards to the undermentioned Officers and Warrant Officers, in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty in the Field :—

* * * *

AWARDED THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

* * * *

Lt.-Col. (Bt. Col.) Edward Alexander Kettlewell, Indian Army.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He was in command of reinforcement camps, and was ordered to fill a gap in our line with such forces as he could collect. Realising the emergency, he had already reorganised the reinforcements and such stragglers as he could collect into a battalion, and at an hour's notice personally led them forward to a section of the line which he held for two days until relieved. During this period he beat off several attacks, and by his personal example inspired his men with confidence and assurance.

* * * *

AWARDED THE MILITARY CROSS.

* * * *

Capt. Walter Leslie Hailes, Jats, I.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. This officer led his company in a successful night attack on the enemy's trenches, and maintained his position there under heavy fire for several hours.

* * * *

Lt. (A./Capt.) John Stewert Hannah, I.A.R.O., attd. Punjabis, I.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. This officer organised the defence of a building against repeated hostile attacks. The position was one of great uncertainty and danger, which demanded exceptional pluck and determination to hold.

* * * *

Lt. George Gregory Hills, I.A.R.O., attd. Rif. I.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during an advance. His platoon came under very heavy cross fire from machine guns, and after going about 150 yards was unable to advance or retire. He got the survivors back to the top of a hill, which was then counter-attacked by the enemy, who advanced under an extremely heavy machine-gun barrage to within 25 yards of the top. With great gallantry and steadiness he beat off the attack with Lewis guns and bombs. The enemy then tried to capture the hill by coming in his left flank, and was again beaten back. Owing to his courage and example the hill was retained.

* * * *

Lt. (A./Capt.) James Clyde Johnson, I.A.R.O., attd. Infy., I.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. This officer rushed to the assistance of his commanding officer, who was lying wounded on a slope exposed to accurate fire from the enemy's guns, and carried him to a place of safety.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. I of 1918.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

On the 10th of September 1918, a Resolution was adopted by the Indian Legislative Council declaring that the prolongation of the war justifies India's taking a larger share than she does at present of the cost of the military forces raised or to be raised in this country. It is the object of the present Bill to raise money, by the imposition of an excess profits duty, towards the cost of the measures proposed to give effect to this Resolution.

2. Although no guarantee can be given by the Government on the point, the change which has recently come over the military situation makes it possible that the sum to be raised by the duty will not be required for more than one year, and the duty is, therefore, imposed by the Bill only on the profits of a single year (clauses 2 and 4). The proposed duty will absorb fifty per cent. of the excess of the profits made in an accounting period of twelve months over a certain standard called in the Bill the "standard profits" (clause 4). The accounting period consists of the twelve months ending on the 31st March 1919, unless a different period of twelve months has been taken for the income-tax assessments of that year, when that period is taken; and the profits of the accounting period are those ascertained for income-tax purposes (clause 5). Standard profits are calculated on different bases when the business subject to the duty has been assessed to income-tax in the course of the four financial years, 1913-14, 1914-15, 1916-17, and 1917-18, and when it has not.

3. When a business has been assessed to income-tax in the four years, the standard profits will under the Bill be the average profits as assessed for income-tax purposes, with proportionate increases if the assessment in any of the years covered a period of less than twelve months. When it has not been assessed to income-tax in all the four years, the standard profits will be calculated at ten per cent. on the capital of the business at the end of the accounting period (clause 6). With slight modifications, the provisions of the British Excess Profits Duty Acts are followed for the calculation of the capital of the business. (Schedule II).

4. The Bill provides for an adjustment, where capital has been increased or decreased during the accounting period, by deduction from or addition to the profits of that period of an amount equivalent to ten per cent per annum on the increase or decrease of capital (clause 7).

5. Businesses which have not earned in the accounting period more than thirty-thousand rupees will be exempt from the duty (Schedule I), and in no case will a larger sum be taken as the duty than will reduce the profits to thirty-thousand rupees (clause 4, proviso). Otherwise the duty will be imposed upon all businesses except agriculture, offices or employments, professions subject to the limitations in force in the United Kingdom, and businesses which are liable to pay in respect of the accounting period excess profits duty in the United Kingdom (Schedule I).

6. In general, the procedure for the recovery of the duty, for appeals against the Collector's assessments, and similar matters will be that in force under the Income-tax Act (clauses 13 and 15), but there are some special provisions. The Collector is given wide powers to modify assessments when on application to him it is shown that for special reasons the methods laid down for calculating the duty will operate unfairly (clause 8), and persons dissatisfied with his orders on such applications are permitted to appeal to the Chief

Revenue-authority, who, if it thinks that the appeal involves questions of general importance, is required to refer it to a Board of Referees appointed by the Local Government, and consisting of three members, of whom at least one must be a non-official acquainted with businesses of the nature of that in respect of which the appeal is made (clause 9). The Collector is also authorised in addition to his powers under the Income-tax Act to call, under penalty for non-compliance, for such particulars in connection with the business as he may require (clauses 11 and 12), to permit payment in instalments (clause 13), and to use in his assessments to the duty information obtained for the purpose of income-tax assessments (clause 16). Persons chargeable to the duty are required under penalty to give the Collector notice of the fact (clauses 10 and 12), and they are forbidden, on pain of a fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, to enter into fictitious or artificial transactions with the object of avoiding payment of the duty (clause 17).

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 7th December 1918.

Burma.—The week was rainless. In Lower Burma reaping of early paddy is proceeding and that of winter rice has commenced. In Upper Burma sowing of miscellaneous and island crops and harvesting of cotton, groundnut and late sesamum are progressing and reaping of winter rice and cultivation of spring rice have commenced. Standing crops are generally good. Cattle are healthy. The price of unhusked rice in Rangoon has fallen further to Rs. 188, but is still considerably above normal. The market for white rice is weak at Rs. 327-8 per hundred baskets for specials.

Assam.—The weather was seasonable. Harvesting of winter rice, manufacture of tea and plucking of cotton continue. Pressing of sugarcane is going on in some places. Ploughing of spring rice has commenced. Outturn and prospects of crops are fair but rain is wanted for growth of standing crops. Cattle disease is reported from four districts. The price of common rice has risen.

Bengal.—Practically no rain fell during the week, excepting scanty showers in a few districts. Harvesting of winter paddy continues. Standing crops are suffering for want of moisture. Transplantation of tobacco seedlings, sowing of wheat and some spring crops are going on. Damage to standing crops by insects is reported from some eastern districts. Average price of common rice has risen by about 2·7 per cent.

Bihar and Orissa.—There was no rain during the week except light showers in parts of Shahabad, Ranchi, Angul, Sambalpur and Puri. Harvesting of winter paddy and pressing of sugarcane continue. Sowing of spring crops is in progress, but they are withering in several districts for want of moisture, and rain is urgently wanted. Prospects are bad, especially in the Patna, Orissa and Chota Nagpur divisions. In Angul test works are going on at 37 centres, but many of these are to be closed. Gratuitous relief was given to 446 persons. The price of common rice has risen in six districts, fallen in four and remained stationary in the remaining districts as compared with that in the preceding week. Cattle disease is reported from eight districts. Reports from the Feudatory States of Orissa and Chota Nagpur have not been received.

United Provinces.—There was light rain again in some districts, but more is urgently wanted. Damage to crops continues for want of rain. Land is being prepared for spring crops and poppy and their sowing continues. Harvesting of autumn crops is nearly complete. Pressing of sugarcane, picking of cotton, and irrigation of sugarcane are going on. Standing crops are fair except in a few districts. Prospects are not favourable. Condition of agricultural stock is on the whole satisfactory, but cattle disease is still prevalent in places. Fodder is scarce and dear. Water and market supplies are sufficient. Prices are generally stationary with a tendency to rise.

Punjab.—Except some slight local falls of rain the weather remained dry all over the province. Standing irrigated autumn crops are generally average and unirrigated crops are poor. Picking of cotton, pressing of sugarcane, and harvesting of other crops continue. The yield is generally normal on irrigated and much below normal on unirrigated areas. Wheat and other spring crops are being sown on irrigated areas. Area sown is below normal to normal. Standing irrigated crops are average to good but unirrigated crops for which rain is badly needed are much below average. Cattle are generally healthy but fodder is scarce in most districts. Sugarcane is being used as fodder in some districts. Water is generally sufficient. Prices are generally stationary and above scarcity rates. Prices of wheat:—Ambala 6, Rawalpindi 6½, Lyallpur 6½, Ferozepore and Lahore 6½ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—Slight rain fell in one district. More rain is greatly needed throughout the province. Sowings of spring crops are in progress in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan, but are restricted in Bannu. Prospects of standing crops are average on irrigated and below average on unirrigated areas in Peshawar and Bannu and poor in Dera Ismail Khan owing to drought. Maize and chari are being reaped with outturn average. Prices of wheat:—Peshawar 7½ and Dera Ismail Khan 7½ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Very slight rain fell in some parts. There was no fall in prices.

Kashmir.—The week was generally cloudy and cold. Spring agricultural operations are in progress in Baramulla and Anantnag districts and are over in Muzaffarabad. Cattle disease is reported in Muzaffarabad. Prices are becoming normal.

Rajputana.—Rain fell in a few places during the week. The weather was cool. Harvesting of autumn crops has been completed. Prospects are poor. Spring sowings are late and restricted. Condition of cattle is fair. Scarcity of fodder is general. Water is sufficient. Prices are stationary.

Central India.—The rainfall was good in parts of Bundelkhand, hail accompanied rainfall in parts of Jaora and in all districts of Indore, was partial in Gwalior and Malwa and insufficient in Baghelkhand. Sowing of spring crops is nearly completed in Gwalior and Southern States. Late sowings are in progress in parts of Gwalior. Autumn crops are being harvested and cotton picking is in progress in Indore and Southern States but have been damaged by hail in certain parganas of Malwa and Prant. Standing crops have withered in Bundelkhand and are fair elsewhere except Jaora and Ratlam. Probable outturn depends on winter rain in Gwalior, is unsatisfactory in Bundelkhand, annas four to ten in Bhopal and below average in Dhar. Cattle disease prevails in Karera, Gwalior, southern part of Rewa, Dhar and Barwani. Scarcity of fodder prevails in Gwalior, Indore and parts of Malwa. Prices are fluctuating in Gwalior and Indore, but are stationary elsewhere. Poppy cultivation is in progress in Gwalior and Indore.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been cold and occasionally cloudy. During the week all districts received some rain. Seoni and Nagpur reported over an inch but the quantity registered at headquarters in the remaining districts nowhere exceeded 75 cents. This rainfall and that of the preceding week together with the dew that is now falling have greatly improved the condition of spring crops and their prospects at present are generally good all over the province. Additional land is now being put under spring crops in several districts. Harvesting and threshing of autumn crops and picking of cotton continue. The supply of fodder and water is adequate except in parts of Hoshangabad, Betul, Chindwara and Berar. Agricultural stock is generally in good condition. In Sironcha Tahsil gratuitous relief is being extended. A kitchen has been reopened and a charitable fund organized to distribute clothes to the distressed. Influenza still prevails in parts of six districts but it is reported to be generally subsiding. Wheat in Chanda, rice in Seoni, Hoshangabad and Amraoti and juar in Chanda and Yeotmal became cheaper by about $1\frac{1}{2}$ seers per rupee. Rice rose by 2 seers in Chanda. Elsewhere prices remained steady or fluctuated slightly but the general tendency to fall is now well marked.

The weekly report on scarcity in Sironcha is as follows:—Influenza has much increased distress in Sironcha and mortality is high. Gratuitous relief is being extended and kitchens will soon be reopened. Public works are still closed. Numbers on relief—gratuitous relief 735.

Feudatory States.—Light to moderate showers were received in the States and the spring crops are doing well.

Bombay.—Good rain fell during the week in Ratnagiri, Kanara, Ahmednagar and Bijapur and slight elsewhere. Standing crops have been damaged by rats in Deccan and Karnatak, and are withering in Karachi and Hyderabad in many places. Autumn harvesting continues in Sind and some places in the Presidency. Spring sowing continues, but is much retarded for want of moisture. Cotton picking continues in Sind, Broach, Rewa Kantha, Baroda, Khandesh and Sholapur. Fodder supply is generally deficient but pastures have improved in parts of Karnatak. Agricultural stock is generally sufficient, but cattle are deteriorating in parts of Hyderabad, North Gujarat, Deccan, Belgaum, Kolhapur and Kathiawar. Irrigation is deficient in parts of Sind, Kaira, Surat, Poona, Sholapur, Satara and Karnatak. Prices of food grains are high but generally steady. Demand for labour is sufficient. Small test works continue in Kaira, Panchmahals and Nagar.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall during the week was good in four districts, light in four districts and fair elsewhere. The average fall was 77 cents. Autumn harvest is nearly completed. Early rice harvest continues, the crop has suffered in some districts. Spring crops are fair to good. They have been damaged by insects in parts of Nalgonda district. Cattle are healthy. Fodder is scarce. Prices of grains continue to be abnormally high. Juar is selling at two seers per rupee in the Parbhani district.

Mysore.—The week was slightly wet. Standing crops are in fair condition. Harvested ragi outturn is poor to fair. Rice and sugarcane outturn is fair. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are generally steady.

Coorg.—The week was practically rainless. Condition of rice is fair, ears are growing. Picking of cardamom and coffee continues. Cattle disease prevails in some villages. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient. Public health is fair. Prices of food grains are high.

Madras.—Rainfall was heavy in South Arcot, Tanjore, Ramnad and Tinnevely; good in Nellore, Chingleput, Madras, Coimbatore, Trichinopoly, Pudukkottai, Madura, west coast and the hills; fair in Guntur, Bellary, Sandur, Cuddapah, Chittoor and North Arcot; and light or nil elsewhere. Standing crops are fair generally, but have been lost or are withering in parts owing to excess or deficiency of rainfall. Harvests of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops are limited with outturn sometimes fair but poor in parts of fifteen districts. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are proceeding but restricted in places for want of rain. Condition of cattle is good generally. Water is insufficient except in Cuddapah, Nellore, Chingleput, Coimbatore, Trichinopoly, Tanjore, west coast and the hills. Pasture is sufficient except in parts of three districts. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of nine districts. Prices have risen in parts but tendency to rise is generally weakened. Prospects are fair except in parts of four districts. No report has been received regarding details of test works in Salem.

REPORT ON THE OPERATIONS OF THE CURRENCY DEPARTMENT
DURING THE YEAR 1917-18.

From—M. M. S. GUBBAY, Esq., C.S.I., CIE., I.C.S., Controller of Currency,
To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Finance Department, Simla.

SIR,

I have the honour to submit my report on the operations of the Currency Department, the movement of funds, and the resource operations of the Government of India for the year 1917-18. The report was ready for publication at the end of September but its issue had necessarily to be delayed by reason of the discovery of certain important omissions from the trade statistics of the year on which are based the table in paragraph 2 and the narrative in paragraphs 3 to 12.

The record of the financial and currency events of the year marks ^{Introductory.} another definite stage in the development of tendencies which previous Currency Reports have noticed as characteristic of the second of the two periods into which the history of the working of the Indian currency system under war conditions falls. This period opens with the revival in the autumn of 1915 of activity in the export trade which set in on the passing away of the disturbing effects caused by the first shock of war. Since then there has been an expanding demand for Indian products, both from the Allies and from neutrals. Much of this demand has been of a war character, and therefore not subject to the limiting influence of advancing prices, and of many of the principal Indian products it may be said that they have enjoyed a practical monopoly in the world's markets. Concurrently, the manufacturing activities and the industrial power of Europe and America have been diverted, to an increasing extent, to the production of war material thereby resulting in a contraction of the output of goods which other countries have been able to export to India. On the other hand, the huge structures of credit which the exigencies of war finance have compelled belligerents and many neutrals to create have led to a jealous economy by them of their gold reserves. A decrease in the world production of gold and silver, accompanied by an increase in the coinage demand for the latter metal, has further added to the difficulties with which foreign consumers of Indian products have been faced in liquidating the debts due by them to India. The events of this period group themselves, therefore, round the central fact, that foreign countries have been unable or unwilling to correct the adverse balance against them through the usual method of exportation to India of goods or of treasure. One consequence has been that the financial relations between India and other countries have undergone a sensible modification. Another result has been that an appreciating value has attached to the rupee in the international exchanges. Normally the interdependence between the Government and the trade transactions which forms the central feature of the Indian currency system provides an automatic mechanism whereby ultimately an adjustment of the trade balance can be effected. But under war conditions the operation of this mechanism is limited in two ways. In the first place the Government of India in the discharge of obligations assumed in connection with the financing of military operations in certain theatres of war, have themselves become the largest individual exporters of war supplies and services, and have thereby been involved in large disbursements in India on behalf of His Majesty's Government. The financing of these disbursements has naturally had to take precedence of other demands. In the second place, though the sums so disbursed in India by Government have been repaid in London, their re-transfer to India is only possible through the shipment of gold or silver to India, and here the same limitations have operated to curtail these counter remittances by Government as have just been shown to constitute the difficulty which foreign consumers have experienced in liquidating their debts to India.

This brief introductory summary will serve to explain the general arrangement of the report which follows. The first three sections deal, as usual, with India's foreign trade, and the adjustment of the trade balance; the rise in the price of silver and the movements of exchange, and the sale of Council bills. The fourth section deals with the Government's financial operations and balances, and the effect of these operations on money market conditions in India is discussed in the next succeeding section. Then follow the usual sections dealing with the demand for the various forms of currency, the absorption of metallic currency and the expansion of the note circulation. Finally, certain miscellaneous matters are dealt with in the last section.

I.—India's Foreign Trade.

Statistics of Foreign trade.

2. The statement below gives in the form adopted in former reports, for the year 1917-18 and the preceding seven years, a summarised record of the statistics of India's foreign trade and of some other transactions which are usually taken into account in estimating the trade balance. In paragraphs 6 and 7 I refer to certain adjustments which are required in the statistics of imports and exports of gold and silver on account of the special nature of some of the transactions which are included in the trade figures. The adjusted figures for the year under report and each of the two preceding years are shown in italics in the statement below.

(d) Figures adjusted as explained in paragraphs 6 and 7 below.

3. I can only attempt a very brief summary of the principal features of the foreign trade with more particular reference to those affecting the currency and exchange problems of the year, leaving to the Review of Trade published by the Director of Statistics a detailed exposition of the trade statistics of the year. In the 12 months under report India exported goods to the value of over 2,42½ crores, of which all but slightly over 9 crores represented goods of Indian origin. In return India received about 1,50½ crores of goods from other countries, so that the excess of exports of private merchandise over imports of the same amounted to 92.14 crores. This excess, it will be observed, is smaller than that recorded in 1916-17, but is still very considerably larger than that recorded for the average of the five years 1910-11 to 1914-15. In normal times imports of gold and silver help substantially to fill the gap between exports and imports. Under war conditions, however, as was pointed out in the report for 1916-17, difficulties in obtaining gold and silver in quantities approximating to those imported in normal times have resulted in a greater strain being thrown on the alternative method of financing exports, namely, that whereby funds are placed at the disposal of trade by Government in the form of Councils. In the year which has just closed the imports of gold and silver, though appreciably greater than those of the two preceding years, were still far below the pre-war standard, while the amount of Council Bills paid in India exceeded even the high figure recorded in 1916-17 and amounted to no less than 50,72 lakhs. A comparatively insignificant import of Government securities, amounting to 83 lakhs, further helped to pay for the exports from India to other countries. As disclosed by the statement above the net apparent balance in favour of India was thus brought down to 19,96 lakhs. This apparent balance is further reduced to 17,67 lakhs by the adjustments, explained in paragraphs 6 and 7, which are necessary in the trade statistics of imports and exports of treasure. The fact that in a year in which the finance of exports has notoriously presented unusual difficulties and in which exchange has, save for a short-lived re-action in the autumn, always been difficult to procure, the net apparent balance as disclosed by the above statement should be smaller than the similar apparent balance in the three preceding years calls for a more detailed explanation which will be found in paragraph 12.

4. Of the exports valued at 2,42,56 lakhs, shipments of Indian merchandise Exports were returned at 2,33½ crores. The largest individual group contributing towards this total was raw cotton and cotton manufactures, shipments of which were valued at just under 56 crores, raw cotton accounting for 12½ crores thereof. The next largest individual statistical group was grain, pulse and flour. Shipments of these foodstuffs amounted to over 1½ million tons valued at 53½ crores and were distributed between rice (20,80 lakhs), wheat (19 crores), barley, gram and pulse (11,19 lakhs). Raw jute and jute manufactures accounted for 49,29 lakhs, raw jute representing only about 6½ crores of this latter figure. Tea (17,67 lakhs), hides and skins, raw and tanned, (14,29 lakhs) and seeds (8,22 lakhs) were the remaining most important individual items. The total value of the exports of the year shows a decline of less than 2 per cent as compared with that recorded in 1916-17, but in many of the important export staples there has been a substantial quantitative decline. Actually in the case of raw cotton and jute manufactures this decline is obscured by a rise in values. Shipments of raw jute and raw hides and skins, shrank both in value and quantity. On the other hand, larger quantities of tea, rice, gram, wheat, barley, maize and pulse were shipped than in 1916-17, these larger shipments being in the last four cases accompanied by higher values.

The effects of the smaller shipments of jute, of the high price of raw cotton, and of the large and practically continuous shipments throughout the year of foodstuffs were, as will be seen later, reflected in the demands for currency during the year.

5. Imports were returned at a slightly higher value than in 1916-17. Of Imports the total value of 1,50,42 lakhs, over 42 per cent. namely 63,34 lakhs were imports of yarns and textile fabrics. Next in importance were imports of sugar (15,32 lakhs); metals and manufactures of metals (10,25 lakhs), machinery (5,23 lakhs), cutlery and hardware (4,81 lakhs), and chemicals (4,30 lakhs). The influence of advancing prices is probably more markedly reflected in the values recorded for imports than in export values and allowance will need to be made for this factor in estimating how far the values as recorded for certain imports should be taken into account in the adjustment of the trade balance of the year. Quantitatively there must have been a substantial decline in the volume of the import trade. The yardage of cotton piece-goods declined by 20 per cent. while the value increased by 9 per cent. Imports of metals shrank quantitatively by nearly 40 per cent. and in value by only 4 per cent.,

those of salt declined quantitatively by 24 per cent. and appreciated in value by 15 per cent. On the other hand, the fall in the recorded value of sugar imports does not represent the full quantitative decline of 6 per cent. We shall see, when we come to a discussion of the absorption of currency during the year, to what extent the advance in prices of imports has affected the usual reflow of the currency disbursed in the purchase of crops for export.

Imports and exports of treasure.

Gold.

6. The Reports of the last two years have included references to certain adjustments necessary in the figures for the net imports of treasure as disclosed by the statistical returns. For the year under report similar adjustments are also required. The statistical returns show the net imports of gold bullion at 13,52 lakhs but this figure includes certain import and export transactions on behalf of the Bank of England which do not enter into India's trade accounts. Imports of raw gold on behalf of the Bank of England were valued at 2,21 lakhs while exports from the Bank's holding of gold in India amounted to 3,73 lakhs. With these figures excluded the value of the net import of gold bullion into India is 15,04 lakhs, the aggregate net import of gold sovereigns and bullion being 21,46 lakhs.

Silver.

7. The table in the margin shows the monthly imports and exports on private account as furnished by the Statistical Department. There was an apparent

net import of 69 lakhs; but the export figures include 77 lakhs worth of silver coin minted for the Egyptian Government at the Bombay Mint from silver imported by Government. This export should be omitted from the gross exports thereby reducing the latter to 92 lakhs and raising the net import to 1,46 lakhs. The true net import should thus be taken at 1,46 lakhs. Of the exports on private account 22 lakhs represent shipments of whole rupees to East Africa by a Bank on behalf of the Administration of that Colony; 40 lakhs in whole rupees or krans were shipped to Bahrein and Henjam chiefly for the pearl fisheries; 5 lakhs, mostly krans, were shipped to Persia. Exports on private account also included shipments amounting to 21 lakhs of silver coin minted for the Straits Administration and the Ceylon Government. The shipments of rupees from India made by the Government of India to Mesopotamia, amounting to 162 lakhs, are not included in the above figures.

8. In regard both to imports and exports of gold and silver, it should be noted that certain legislative measures were adopted during the year. Imports of gold except under license were prohibited by Notification No. 1469-F., issued on the 29th June 1917, while Ordinance No. III of 1917, the Gold (Import) Ordinance, gave powers for the acquisition of all gold imported into India on or after that date. The object of this Ordinance, which was re-enacted as the Gold (Import) Act, No. XXII of 1917, to remain in force during the war and for six months thereafter, was described in the terms of a Press Communiqué issued on the 29th June as "not in any way to interfere with trade remittances but to ensure that such gold as is imported is used in the most effective way possible to strengthen the Indian currency position. Gold so acquired will be placed in the Currency Reserve, where it will increase the metallic backing to the note issue and will, if it is in the form of sovereigns, be readily available for use as currency when necessary." The effect of this measure was to bring under the control of the Government of India the very considerable importations of gold which were being made from Japan and America, and to strengthen the gold reserves of the Government of India by the addition of 18,37 lakhs. The rate at which such imported gold was acquired was fixed by the Ordinance at Re. 1 for every 7.53344 grains troy of fine gold, corresponding to a rate of Rs. 15 to the pound sterling. This rate continued till the 26th September when it was altered to 7.79321 grains of fine gold to the rupee, as a consequence of the advance to 1s. 5d. of the rate for the Secretary of State's immediate telegraphic transfers, the intention being, as stated in the Hon'ble Finance Member's speech at the Legislative Council meeting of the 25th September, that "neither premium nor discount shall attach to remittances of gold as compared with Council remittances at the present rates." On the re-enactment of the Gold (Import) Ordinance as the Gold (Import) Act, No. XXII of 1917, the opportunity was taken to provide that gold so acquired shall be paid for at rates prescribed by the Governor General in Council, this provision being necessary in view of the intention just referred to, and of the possible contingency of changes in the Council Bill rate. On the alteration from the 12th April 1918 of the latter rate to 1s. 6d. the rate for gold was lowered to 8·21830 grains per rupee. The gold acquired under the Act was paid for by notes issued from the Paper Currency Reserve against the metal there deposited. From the point of view of the trade balance these transactions operate in the same way as any other import into India, though, of course, the effect of the acquisition by Government was to postpone the passing of these imports into consumption as gold.

One incidental result of the acquisitions under this Act was to raise again the question of a Gold Mint for India. A large amount of the gold so acquired was not in the form of sovereigns, being foreign gold coin, gold bars, and bullion and therefore not available for use as currency. In view of the demand for currency in India an agreement was concluded with His Majesty's Government whereby a Branch of the Royal Mint is temporarily during the war to be established in Bombay for the purpose of converting this uncoined gold into currency so as to make it available for use in case of need. At the same time and with the same purpose it was decided to equip the Bombay Mint with a refining plant. Neither the Mint nor the Gold Refinery was actually opened for operations during the year, but within a few weeks of the close of the year, as a temporary expedient, owing to the delay in the shipment to India of the dies for the sovereign coinage and to meet an emergency caused by the enormous drain on the silver currency balances, the coinage of gold mohurs was commenced.

As regards silver, the import of silver bullion and coin, except under license, was prohibited by Notification No. 1571-F., issued on the 11th July 1917, while under an Ordinance, No. IV of 1917, issued on the same date power was taken to acquire silver imported under license. This Ordinance, unlike the Gold (Import) Ordinance, was not re-enacted and therefore lapsed six months after the date of its issue. As a matter of fact, no silver was acquired under its provisions.

The exportation of all silver coin and bullion was prohibited with effect from the 3rd September 1917.

9. Allowing for the adjustment on account of imports of railway plant and rolling stock, which for reasons given in paragraph 4 of Appendix I to Mr. Howard's report for 1913-14 should be excluded from the figures of private imports and correcting the figures of net imports of gold and silver as indicated in paragraphs 6 and 7 above, there was, according to the trade statistics, a trade balance in favour of India of 68,72 crores arrived at as follows :—

The adjustment of the balance of trade.

	Lakhs.
Net exports of merchandise	91,64
Net imports of treasure	22,92
Balance	68,72

This balance represents the value of exports which was not liquidated by the shipment of goods or treasure to India; and we have now to consider the various methods whereby foreign consumers of Indian exports were able to effect payment otherwise than by shipping to India goods or gold or silver. A small amount was paid for by the transfer to India of Government securities previously held outside India; on balance there were 83 lakhs of these securities so transferred to India.

10. By far the greater portion of the funds required to finance these exports was found through the release of rupees by Government. In normal times the provision of rupees by Government through Councils has the double effect of placing the Home Treasury of the Government of India in funds for its sterling disbursements, and simultaneously of releasing rupees to finance purchases for export. As was, however, pointed out in paragraph 44 of the Finance Member's speech introducing the Financial Statement for 1918-19, and as will be seen from Statement II appended to this Report, the requirements of the Home Treasury have in the year under review been more than amply covered by repayments made to the Secretary of State in London by His Majesty's Government on account of disbursements made in India on the latter's behalf by the Government of India. The sole object, therefore, with which Council bills were sold during the year under review was to enable the financing of the export trade to be effected. The total amount placed at the disposal of trade in this form was, as already observed, Rs. 50,72 lakhs.

In addition to the above, remittances of funds to India were made through Government agency in various other ways. Remittances through the Post Office by means of postal and money orders, particularly from Egypt and the Straits, were abnormally heavy and resulted in a net payment in India of 9,58 lakhs. Telegraphic transfers drawn on Indian treasuries from Persia and Mesopotamia totalled 7,37 lakhs. Under special arrangements with the East African Administration, and the Governments of Ceylon and of the Seychelles, various sums, amounting in all to 5,85 lakhs, were paid out by the Indian Treasury to Banks or firms in India to provide funds for the payment of goods exported to these colonies from India, repayment being made in London. In order to provide American importers of Indian produce and manufactures with the rupees required by them to discharge their liabilities to exporters in India, rupee credits were opened in December 1917 in favour of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and payments against these credits by the close of the official year amounted to Rs. 3,80 lakhs. As part of an agreement between His Majesty's Government and the Government of Japan a sum of Rs. 3 crores was placed at the disposal of exporters to Japan against the release of gold held in India on behalf of the Bank of England, such gold being passed into the Paper Currency Reserve. This transaction was, of course, in effect equivalent to an import of gold into India, but inasmuch as the value of the gold thus made over to the Government of India is not included in the figures of imports of treasure, it is necessary to bring this transaction to account as a special item in the trade balance sheet of the year. Finally some considerable portion of the exports to Australia was financed with the rupees which were paid out by Government in discharge of bills drawn on them against stores of Australian produce purchased for the use of troops. These stores being on Government account do not appear in the trade statistics of imports but the exports shipped from India in exchange for these imports are included in the figures of exports. The rupees so paid out amounted to 1,43 lakhs.

The sum total then of the funds released in India by Government for trade purposes in the above ways was Rs. 81,75 lakhs. The release of Government funds in any of the methods thus described is in effect from the point of view of the balance of trade an importation of funds on private account, and operates to reduce the excess of exports over imports as disclosed by the trade statistics. Since these statistics, as shown above, disclose an excess of 68,72 lakhs, while the remittances of funds to India through Government have been found to be 81,75 lakhs, it would appear that these latter alone should have provided, and more than fully provided, the finance required for the payment of this excess of exports over imports.

Private remittances.

11. But, apart from the funds which Government may release in any of the methods just mentioned, account must also be taken of the rupee funds which are brought forward by private agency, for these serve precisely the same purpose, namely, that of adjusting the payment for that portion of India's exports not liquidated by imports of merchandise or treasure. These are rupees which private individuals, firms, railways, banks and others wish to transfer out of India otherwise than in payment of goods imported, or to be imported, into India. They may, for instance, represent the savings of the individual which the latter wishes to remit for investment in Home securities; the earnings or profits which a firm, or railway company, or bank is required to send to its Home office; or funds which it is believed could be more profitably employed out of India. In all cases, such remittances homewards operate to render possible export transactions in excess of those covered by imports. The amount of these remittances can necessarily never be precisely ascertained ; and, further, many of these items are not constant but vary considerably from year to year.

In 1917-18 the amount of these homeward remittances was certainly considerably smaller than in the preceding year and probably also below the level of recent years. Among the factors accounting for this decrease, probably the most important single factor has been the appreciation in the price of silver. Through its effect on the exchange value of the rupee this appreciation has, on the one hand, led to the withholding of remittances in the expectation of a higher sterling equivalent being obtainable for rupees, while, on the other hand, it has added to the uncertainty which, since the imposition of a limit to the weekly allotment of Councils, has attended the re-importation of rupee funds transferred home. That there has been a withholding of remittance on the chance or in the expectation of realising higher rates is confirmed by the large and sudden demand for sterling when, as the result of a temporary relapse in October and November in the price of silver, an anticipation (incorrect as it eventually proved to be) arose of a reduction in the exchange value of the rupee. Generally speaking, the tendency on the part of commercial houses has been to retain their balances in this country, and this tendency has been encouraged by the fuller facilities now available in India, through Indian Treasury Bills, for the employment of temporarily idle money in gilt-edged and highly remunerative securities which can, when required, be immediately turned into liquid cash. I am informed that, in particular, Indian branches of Insurance companies whose remittances to London used to represent a not inconsiderable item, have in the last 18 months been retaining their receipts in India for investment in India, the change of policy being doubtless dictated by the uncertainty attending the return of funds, when required to meet any sudden claim. It is also the case that in the preceding two years there had been an export of capital from India mainly, no doubt, for investment in British War Loan securities, and the opportunities now available in India through the Indian War Loan of effecting a similarly patriotic investment on a rupee basis probably account for the decrease which Exchange Bankers have observed in the remittances in 1917-18 for investment in National War Bonds. Finally, there has been a diminution in the remittances representing the profits earned in India by companies with sterling capital. These have become fewer in number through the transfer in previous years to a rupee basis of a number of such companies, more particularly jute mill companies, and, where, as in the case of many of these sterling capital companies, the capital is either privately held or held by a few large individual holders with interests in other Indian commercial enterprises, the tendency here too has been to retain, for investment or re-employment in India, the profits which under normal conditions would have automatically been remitted home. An exception to this tendency is, of course, to be found in the case of the railway companies, whose surplus profits remitted home were probably larger than usual owing to the increased traffic offering and the general enhancement of rates. These remittances are usually estimated at between £1 and £1½ millions annually : but this figure was probably exceeded in 1917-18, for the actual surplus profits paid over in India in 1917-18 to Railways worked by companies exceeded the average of the past two years by 43 per cent.

The above general conclusion is supported by certain data which are available regarding the operations of certain Exchange Banks. Homeward remittances of the description referred to above are, as a general rule, made through an Exchange Bank, in whose operations they represent a sale of sterling. In 1917-18 the sales of sterling of the six British Exchange Banks fell short of their purchases of sterling by nearly £32 million. A very substantial portion of this deficiency was, of course, covered by the Councils allotted to these Banks, but, in the result, these Banks found themselves at the close of the year with an uncovered or over-bought position of between £8 and £9 millions. The corresponding figure at the close of 1916-17 was slightly under £2½ millions. These figures, it is true, refer only to the operations of the six British Exchange Banks, who, as part of an arrangement concluded with the Secretary of State, furnish certain periodical returns on which the above figures are based, and, further, these returns include the operations of these Banks' agencies in Ceylon. Subject, however, to these qualifications, the fact that so large an over-bought position had necessarily to be accumulated by the Exchange Banks for the purpose of financing exports lends support to the view expressed in the preceding paragraph, that the total amount of private remittance was substantially smaller in 1917-18 than in the preceding year.

General conclusions

12. I have shown that the amount of rupee funds placed by Government at the disposal of trade more than covered the balance in favour of India as disclosed by trade statistics, and the amount by which the Banks were over-bought must be added to this figure, since this over-buying arose, as is known, entirely as a result of the undertaking given by the Exchange Banks to assist to the fullest possible extent in the financing of war exports. After allowing for the fact that a portion of the Banks' overbuying was at the rate of 1s. 5d. and making a rough estimate of the overbuying by the Banks' Colombo Agencies we get a figure of rather more than 90 crores as representing the total amount of the rupee funds which can quite correctly be said to have been brought forward by Government and the Banks to finance the excess of exports over imports. This result does not accord with the figures given in paragraph 9 as the amount of such excess. It is not easy to particularise the causes for this discordance, and I can only very briefly point to the following factors as likely to account, to some extent, for the different results arrived at between the trade statistics on the one hand and such other data as are available on the other.

In the first place, it is very probable that a considerable portion of the imports of gold was made in anticipation of exports to be shipped from India, and that the funds so laid down were not fully utilised in 1917-18. Although the trade accounts classify such imports of gold as belonging to the year in which the import has taken place it does not necessarily follow that such imports were intended to correct an adverse balance for the year in question. I imagine that this factor was particularly operative in the case of the imports of gold by Japan, for there has been a considerable holding of Treasury Bills by or on behalf of Japanese exporters, some portion of which, I am informed, represents the funds released in India by the transfer to the Indian Government of the 3 crores of gold referred to in paragraph 10. Another disturbing factor is to be found in the basis on which prices are determined for the purpose of valuing imports for statistical purposes. As was pointed out in Appendix II to Mr. Howard's Currency Report for 1913-14, there is always the possibility that the value of imports into India and of exports from India will not correspond to the value which merchants have to pay or for which they have to draw and the discordance will, of course, be accentuated when, as under present conditions, prices are advancing rapidly and continuously. In the case of the imports of piece-goods in 1917-18, this factor probably had a peculiarly disturbing effect. A leading Calcutta firm who import piece-goods have been good enough to furnish me with the value of the remittances made by them in payment of their imports of piece-goods. Over the whole of their transactions for the period August 1917 to April 1918 this firm remitted home, as the cost of their imports of piece-goods, 13 per cent. less than the price on which import duty was assessed, this latter price, which represents the market price at time of importation, being the value at which this firm's imports would be shown in the trade accounts. A similar factor, but operating in the opposite direction, may perhaps also have been at work in the case of certain exports but its effect on the values which should be taken for exports will probably not have been as great as the effect on import values of a rise in the price of piece-goods. The latter represent, as has been shown above, 42 per cent. of the total value of imports and the sterling cost of these particular imports is an important item in the debit account of India. It must also be noted that the trade statistics do not include all exports shipped in chartered vessels and it is possible that a certain quantity of exports so shipped which should strictly speaking have been brought to account as exports of private merchandise may have escaped registration.

The above examination points to the conclusion that, as in the two immediately preceding years, the transactions of 1917-18 have resulted in India's credits exceeding her debits. Though the flow of capital from private individuals and commercial houses observed in the last two years may have been reduced, there has been an appreciable amount of Indian banking resources transferred to London. This transfer of their resources by the Exchange Banks is, however, being partially liquidated in the year 1918-19 under a special arrangement with the Secretary of State, the effect of which will be to increase the amount of funds which the Government of India will have accumulated at Home. As is explained elsewhere the funds already accumulated have enabled the creation of a special Reserve of £20 millions for the purposes stated in paragraph 34 of the Finance Member's speech introducing the Financial Statement for 1918-19 and it may perhaps not be out of place to note here that the holdings of the Government of India in Treasury Bills, National War Bonds and Exchequer Bonds in the Paper Currency and Special Reserves amounted on the 31st March 1918 to over £52 millions, representing, as was described in paragraph 53 of the Finance Member's speech, an 'over-bought position' caused mainly by reason of the expenditure incurred in India on behalf of His Majesty's Government, but also as a result of the rupee funds placed at the disposal of the trade. These sums are in effect loaned to His Majesty's Government and are, of course, in addition to India's contribution of £100 millions to the war.

quotations in London of silver in each month of the year. There have been sensational fluctuations in the price of the white metal, and the highest point reached, namely, 55d. on the 21st September, constitutes a record since 1878. The cumulative effect of the contraction in supplies and of the continued expansion in the demand for coinage and in the requirements of the trade will account for the increasing appreciation in the value of the metal, but it is a little difficult to explain satisfactorily, except on the ground of sentiment or speculation, the spectacular rise and fall which took place between the 23rd August and the 11th October, when an advance of 10½d. in 25 days was followed by a fall of 10½d. in 14 days. It is noteworthy that during the period of the sensational advance the Indian currency silver balances which had been progressively increasing since the 7th June stood at over 29 crores, while the Indian currency gold holding had simultaneously been augmented.

On the 2nd April silver stood at 36½d. In that month the United States commenced to buy for coinage, and this somewhat unusual factor doubtless influenced the rise recorded in that month and the following two months during which period, too, there was a substantial demand for coinage from France. In the third week of July, however, there was a certain reaction, caused probably by the prohibition applied with effect from the 11th July on the importation of silver into India. From 39½d. on the 27th July the price advanced rapidly and continued to advance throughout August and in the first three weeks of September, the highest point being reached, as stated above, on the 21st of that month when silver was quoted at 55d. remaining at that level until the 25th. Thereafter prices began to fall away. The demand from China suddenly ceased. Rumours were persistent of a possible release of a portion of the large reserves of silver held by the United States Government. Other factors set in simultaneously or shortly after to accentuate the downward tendency. Sales of Mexican dollars to the United States were reported on a large scale and the calling in by the Government of the State of Panama of its currency and the demonetisation of the Italian silver coinage, together with the prohibition on the export of silver to Scandinavia and Holland, no doubt contributed towards the fall. October accordingly saw silver down to 41½d., though this fall was counteracted by a rise of $3\frac{7}{8}d.$ to $45\frac{1}{4}d.$, on the last day of the month. The fluctuations in the remaining months of the year were not so marked, and the lowest point touched between December and March was $42\frac{3}{4}d.$ No doubt in this latter period the knowledge that negotiations had been opened between the United States Government and the British Government for the release of the former's silver reserves served to maintain the downward tendency until information transpired of the probable stabilisation of American prices at the rate of a dollar per ounce.

The high level to which the price of silver had risen, and at which it seemed likely to be maintained, led to the taking of certain consequential measures. On the 11th July the importation of silver into India was prohibited except under license, this step being taken to eliminate competition with Government purchases. On the 29th August silver having by that date reached a point at which the Secretary of State was faced with a loss in selling rupees at $1s. 1\frac{1}{4}d.$, the rate for the latter was advanced to $1s. 5d.$ On the 3rd September an embargo was laid on the exports of silver bullion and coin from India. As was explained in paragraph 48 of the Finance Member's speech introducing the Financial Statement for 1918-19 these last two measures in a sense supplement each other in their effect on checking the withdrawal of rupees from circulation for export, the former by making such transactions unprofitable, the latter by rendering them illegal. Similar preventive action had already been, or was shortly after, taken by other countries, the export of silver having been prohibited from Hongkong, Japan and the Straits, while it was also at one time contemplated by China. In the Straits Settlements, indeed, where the almost total disappearance of small coin compelled the issue of paper currency of as low a denomination as 10 cents ($2\frac{3}{4}d.$), this prohibitive action has been supplemented by a re-coinage of the currency of the Colony, the fineness of the dollar and of the subsidiary silver coin being reduced in the first case from 900 to 600 and in the latter from 600 to 400.

Imports into and exports from India having been prohibited, the Indian bullion market thereby became a watertight compartment, and prices in India of silver followed a course which naturally did not necessarily reflect, as in the past, the tendencies of the market outside India. The highest point touched during the year for bar silver in Bombay was on the 19th March, 1918 when silver was quoted ex duty at $\text{Rs}103\frac{7}{8}$, and the lowest on the 10th April 1917 when the price fell to $\text{Rs}86\frac{1}{8}$.

The rupee coinage of the year was 23,12 lakhs, and purchases of silver for this coinage amounted to $83\frac{3}{4}$ million standard ounces. These were supplemented by local purchases in Bombay and Calcutta of $3\frac{1}{2}$ million standard ounces. There were purchased in America 40 million, in China $28\frac{1}{2}$ million, and in Australia 5 million ounces, while $1\frac{1}{2}$ million ounces were obtained from the Baldwin Mines. The balance was shipped from London.

It is noteworthy that in spite of the rise in the price of silver exports from the silver using countries have scarcely been affected. In India, as in China, the demand for the raw materials and the produce of these two countries has throughout been so insistent and of such a character that foreign consumers have been ready to pay the higher prices asked for by Eastern producers. The past year's experience has indeed been that the rise in the exchange value of the currency of these countries, though theoretically it should have tended to curtail exports therefrom, has had less effect in this direction than other factors, such as the shortage of tonnage. It would appear that present conditions have placed Eastern producers in a monopolistic position in which they have been enabled to insist on receiving full prices from foreign consumers and that so far from the higher exchange exercising its usual inhibiting effect on exports it has actually resulted in Eastern producers obtaining a larger sterling return for an equal and probably for even a smaller quantity of produce.

III.—Exchange and Councils.

Council drawings

14. As has already been observed except for a few weeks in the autumn there was a continuous and strong demand for rupee exchange. Under normal conditions variations in this demand at different periods of a year are reflected in larger or smaller sales of Councils as also in fluctuations, of course between the specie points, in the value of the rupee. But, with the impossibility of selling unlimited Councils, for the reasons given in last year's Report, and with the fixation of rates of exchange, which necessarily followed on such a limitation on the importation of funds, the monthly figures of the sales of Councils do not now possess their former significance. The allotment of Councils was, however, varied to some extent in accordance with trade demand. The figures insot show the monthly drawings and payments during the year. In the first four months of the year the weekly allotment was maintained at 1,20 lakhs. This period was marked by heavy shipments of Indian produce, particularly of wheat, while, on the other hand, the demand for exchange was accentuated by a considerable falling off in imports. From August to December however exports showed a tendency to decline, imports in the same period, however, exhibiting a revival. In this period accordingly the weekly allotment was reduced to 90 lakhs on the 1st August, to 60 lakhs on the 21st November and again on the 12th December to 40 lakhs. On the 16th January it was raised to 60 lakhs; and a month later, namely, on the 15th February, a special weekly allotment of 40 lakhs was added and earmarked for the financing of exports of rice from Burma and tea from Colombo. At this figure of 100 lakhs the weekly allotment continued till the close of the year.

Two specific items, which are included in the figures of drawings and payments marginally quoted but were additional to the weekly allotments just described need special mention. Between May and July to facilitate the execution of the Royal Wheat Commission's very pressing requirements for wheat, a sum of Rs. 2,03 lakhs was paid out in varying weekly amounts in sovereigns to certain of the Commission's purchasing agents against payments by the latter in London. The sovereigns paid out were released from the Paper Currency Reserve, and their sterling equivalent was invested in, and added to the Reserve's holding of British Treasury Bills. In effect then the transaction was precisely the same as any other Council drawing through the Paper Currency Reserve and has been treated as such in the statistics of Council drawings and payments. The second special item is the weekly allotment of 3½ lakhs made to the Imperial Bank of Persia to enable it to finance in Persia expenditure required in Imperial interests.

15. As regards rates the year opened with immediate Councils fixed at 1s. 4½d. per rupee, while under agreement with the Secretary of State the Exchange Banks undertook to work on rates based on a selling rate for immediate transfers of 1s. 4¾d. These rates remained in force until the 29th August 1917 when for the reasons given in paragraph 13 the rate for immediate Councils was raised to 1s. 5d. In explanation of the policy dictating the higher rate an announcement was made on the 19th September to the effect that the prices at which Council Bills would be sold would be "those at which silver could be bought by the Secretary of State. It is not to be expected that he should sell rupees at a rate appreciably lower than that at which he can actually buy them but he intends that considerable latitude shall be employed in the application of this principle so that as far as possible changes may be avoided."

The rates fixed on the 29th August 1917 continued in force until the close of the year. The further advance to 1s. 6d. made on the 11th April 1918, as also the causes accounting therefor, namely the conclusion of an agreement with the United States Government for the release to India of a portion of the dollars in their Currency Reserve, belong to the history of the events of 1918-19.

As was pointed out in paragraph 53 of the Finance Member's speech introducing the Financial Statement for 1918-19 the efforts of the Government of India to maintain stability in rates met with a full measure of assistance and loyal support from the Exchange Banks and merchants, and thanks to their co-operation the finance required for the very large volume of exports included in the lists, drawn up in consultation with the Home Government, of articles defined as being of national importance was secured, though at times no doubt with some difficulty. As I have pointed out in an earlier paragraph, the amount of remittance available during the year to supplement the rupee funds provided by Government and by the Exchange Banks from their local resources was considerably smaller than in the preceding year. It is probable, and in fact there is definite evidence in certain cases to this effect, that there has been a certain amount of leakage of cover through hole and corner transactions on the part of certain classes of merchants, who have at times been tempted by the high rates offered by exporters of articles not on the list of exports of national importance, to part with their home remittances, and certain preventive measures have been forced on Government, as for instance, the prohibition applied, with effect from the 16th March 1918 on the export of pearls and from the 11th May and the 1st June 1918 respectively on the import and export of rouble notes. It is difficult to arrive at anything but a rough estimate of the value of exports of national importance. These were estimated by the Department of Statistics at about 100½ crores. The exchange required for these exports was of course primarily provided through Council Bills and, as we have seen, through the transfer to London of a portion of the rupee resources of the Exchange Banks

IV.—The Government Balances and Reserves. Ways and Means.

16. The usual details regarding the Treasury Balances, the Gold Standard and the Paper Currency Reserves will be found in Statements Nos. I and II appended to the Report. A summary of these details is given in the following table which sets out the amounts and the distribution of these balances at the commencement and the close of the year and also at the end of September 1917.

Treasury Balances
(a) in India

17. The above figures give a general indication of the effect on the resources of the Government of the ways and means operations of the year. Treasury balances in India at the beginning of the year included £1·01 millions of the Indian War Loan and were well above the normal. As subscriptions to the Indian War Loan came in during the first quarter of the year, Treasury balances in India continued to increase and were at their highest at the end of June, when they stood at £26,380,000. Thereafter on the closure of the Loan Lists and with the advent of the lean months of revenue collections, they fell away gradually to £12,387,000 at the end of October, and, though the sales of Treasury Bills which commenced on the 16th October brought welcome and substantial additions to the Treasury, balances dropped still further till they reached their lowest point (£11,012,000) at the end of November.

From January onwards however, with the ingathering of the Land Revenue, and the large sales of 3 months' Treasuries, which were introduced on the 14th January and found immediate and extensive support, balances rose slowly again and closed on the 31st March at £15,325,000.

18. Before passing to a corresponding account of the Treasury balances in England, I may perhaps conveniently deal briefly with the main features of the ways and means operations in India. As was observed in paragraph 3 of the Finance Member's speech introducing the Financial Statement for 1918-19, these operations presented practically continuous difficulties throughout the year. Two causes were mainly responsible therefor. In the first place, the Indian balances were called upon to supply funds, on an ever increasing scale, mainly to meet disbursements on behalf of His Majesty's Government. In the second place, counter remittances of silver purchased by the Secretary of State (which represent one method of replenishing Indian balances), substantial though they were, did not suffice to fill the void.

The following very brief summary gives the principal features of the Indian transactions of the year. Outgoings amounted to 1,99 crores accounted for mainly as follows :—

	In crores.
(a) Army, Military Works and Marine Issues	1,22.1
(b) Post office issues	12.5
(c) Council Bill payments	50.7
(d) Payments on behalf of certain Colonial Governments	6.6
(e) Payments on behalf of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York	3.5
TOTAL	1,95.7

and the finance for these transactions was provided for in the following ways :—

	In crores.
(1) From excess of Civil Revenue over Civil expenditure	41.4
(2) From excess of railway receipts over railway issues	26.8
(3) By borrowings --
(a) Indian War Loan and Cash Certificates	15.7
(b) Treasury Bills	43.5
(c) Other borrowings	4.0
(4) By remittances to India of silver purchased by the Secretary of State	18.9
(5) By transfer of Home Treasury balances through investment of the Paper Currency Reserve	13.0
(6) By transfer through the Gold Standard Reserve	2.0

19. The transactions in England will, of course, be largely a counterpart of the Indian transactions. Beginning with a balance of £5,391,000 as against a normal balance of £1 millions, the Home Treasury balances gradually grew, as a result of the accretions arising from the sales of Council bills, and of repayments by His Majesty's Government, and were actually in November and December in excess of Indian balances. The close of the year found the Home Treasury with a balance of £10,625,000, a special Reserve of £20 millions invested in Treasury Bills and National War Bonds having been formed, as explained in paragraph 34 of the Finance Member's speech introducing the Financial Statement for 1918-19.

In Statement II will be found a summary of the cash transactions of the Secretary of State under the more important heads. The net sterling charges against revenue amounted to slightly over £24 millions, while capital transactions resulted in the discharge of debt amounting to £1,582,663. The purchase of silver resulted in disbursements of £13½ millions and India's financial contribution representing the proceeds of the first Indian War Loan in the payment to His Majesty's Treasury of £35,073,000. To finance these transactions the Home Treasury received in Councils £34,880,682, in sterling equivalents of postal money order transactions paid out in India £6,335,259 and on account of disbursements in connection with the war made in India just under £62 millions while other miscellaneous transactions including recoveries from Colonial Governments in sterling of sums disbursed in rupees in India yielded about £8 millions.

The Paper Currency Reserve.

20. The silver balance in the Paper Currency Reserve fluctuated considerably during the year. On the 1st April it stood at £12,806,000 and rose by the end of the half year to £19,713,000. In the second half year owing to the heavy absorption to which reference is made in a subsequent paragraph, the balance fell to £7,194,000. The gold balance in India however, as a result of the acquisitions under the Gold (Import) Ordinance and Gold (Import) Act referred to in paragraph 8 above and of the transfer to India of £4 millions of the gold held in London increased from £7,999,000 to £17,900,000. A large increase occurred in the holdings of securities which rose from £32,328,000 to £40,986,000. The increase represents investments authorised by Ordinance No. II of 1917 which was subsequently re-enacted as Act XIX of 1917. The powers taken under that Ordinance were utilised for the purpose of financing Councils which were paid through this source in the months of April, May and June.

The Gold Standard Reserve.
